POSTAL BILL AMENDMENT DEFEATED

Restoration of 1920 Rates Loses; President Warns Of Salary Increases

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Their ranks holding firmly, Senate administration forces today defeated the George amendment to the Moses postal rate and salary bill.

The amendment would have restored the 1920 postal rates on newspapers and magazines. The vote was 36 to 43.

Under the Moses bill the average rate of second-class matter in all zones would be 5½ cents a pound. The George rates would have cut this average to 3½ cents a pound.

Threatens Veto

President Coolidge will veto the Moses postal rate and salary bill if rates are cut so low the measure will not produce sufficient revenue to absorb proposed salary advances for postoffice workers.

Administration leaders therefore mustered strength today to

ORGES SUPPORT OF BOULDER DAM

Burdette Moody, Secretary of Association, Speaks at C. C. Luncheon

Burdette Moody of the Department of Public Service of the city of Los Angeles, and secretary of the Boulder Dam association, told Chamber of Commerce members of the objects of the latter association which has over 220 members in Southern California, he said, among them being virtually all cities, chambers of commerce, farm bureaus and many ex-service organizations and luncheon service clubs.

Three great advantages will result from the passage of the Swing-Johnson bill, which provided for construction of the Boulder dam, Mr. Moody said. The menace of floods, threatening at all times to wipe out the Imperial valley, will be eliminated; great stores of water will be made available for use in Southern California which now run into the ocean and are lost; and vast sources of electric energy, greater than those of Niagara Falls, will be created for the expansion of the industrial empire of the southwest, he said.

Co-Eds, Tiring Of Barbers, Go Back To Nets

BERKELEY, Jan. 29.—State university co-eds, tiring of expensive weekly visits to their favorite barber, are going back to the tyranny of hair nets and hair pins, in lieu of bobbed tresses, it was declared today by Edward Frederickson, in charge of the students' barber shop on the campus.

"It is very true," explained Frederickson, "that many college women have attempted to grow long tresses recently, but almost none have done so successfully, because when the hair reaches that impossible stage where it can neither be worn bobbed nor up, the co-ed weakens and in despair dashes to the nearest scissors wielder she can find."

According to a milliner from whom many university women choose their chapeaux, the large majority now are purchasing switches to cover the ends of bobbed locks and demand much larger hats than they did last semester.

An opposing opinion is voiced by the manager of a beauty shop, whose clientele is made up of girl students.

"Bobbed hair will never go out of fashion," said madame. "This present craze for growing the hair out and buying switches is but a fad. We are cutting more hair than ever."

GIVE RADIO SETS AS VALENTINE DAY GIFTS

One Outfit Installed, Another Assured And Two More Needed to Supply Each Station in Glendale

One installed, one assured and two to go! This is the status of The Glendale Evening News campaign for a radio set in every fire-house in Glendale, in order that the long hours the firemen are compelled to spend in waiting will be made brighter.

Following the announcement yesterday in The Glendale Evening News that the goal was four radio receiving sets for four fire stations, a subscriber of this paper, inspired by the worthiness of the appeal, took an expensive radio receiving set to the Central fire station, 311 East Broadway, and it is in operation today.

This subscriber, who asks that his name be withheld, realized the need of wholesome entertainment, good music, stirring sermons and interesting addresses as part of a fireman's life just as much as making couplings, climbing ladders, scaling walls and handling a life net are considered essential in the training of a fireman.

Valentine Gifts

There are sufficient funds contributed to date to assure the purchase of another radio receiving set for another of the four fire houses in the city, contributions from the readers of The Glendale Evening News. Funds for two more sests are needed, and Glendalians who have not contributed are asked to call at the office of The Glendale Evening News, 139 South Brand boulevard, and leave their donation, or make use of the coupon which appears daily.

It is the intention of The Glendale Evening News to have all four sests installed and in operation by February 14, thus making these sets the Valentine gifts of the citizens to the men who face danger undauntedly, to protect lives and property.

David Bisno, at 110 North Brand boulevard, heads the list today with a donation of $12.50, which, incidentally, is the largest contribution to date. Packer Motor Co., Studebaker distributors, Colorado street and Brand boulevard, sends a check for $5, while Blount's cafe, 136½ North Brand boulevard, adds $5 to the fund.

RESIDENTS SEND IN NOMINATION BLANKS

People Express Choice of Candidates For Councilmanic Positions By Using Evening News Coupon

Interest in the coming municipal election, when five councilmen will be chosen, has not waned the least bit since the first announcement of the people's list was published in The Glendale Evening News, judging from the number of nomination blanks reaching the office of the nomination editor.

The names of eight possible candidates are added to the list today. There would have been more if one reader had observed the rules more closely and sent in only five names instead of sending in two blanks containing ten names. The rules specify that one person can name only five candidates, and vote for not more than five candidates.

One candidate announces his withdrawal today. He is Charles G. Edmonds, of 129 South Verdugo road. Mr. Edmonds, in asking The Glendale Evening News to announce his withdrawal, asks that this paper convey his thanks to the persons who cast votes for him.

Address Lacking

A number of persons sending in votes and names of candidates are putting down the business address of the candidate. Hereafter, votes with the business address and not the residence address of the candidates will be disregarded. The same rule applies to nomination blanks where the name of the candidate is given but no address appears. This information is essential and must be complete.

Since the initial announcement was made in The Glendale Evening News, residents of the city have expressed their approval of the idea to permit the people to name candidates for five councilmanic positions, all of which indicates Glendalians believe in the principle upon which this nation is founded—government of the people, for the people, by the people.

Blank Appears Daily

Each day there appears in this newspaper a blank form on which Glendale residents are invited to write the names of citizens who they believe are fitted for service on the City Council. Five candidates are to be elected next April.

When any person nominated receives fifty or more nominations, his or her picture and a brief biography will be published in The Glendale Evening News.

Five nominations is the limit any one person is permitted to make. Names of all persons nominated will be published.

The nomination blank appears on page one of today's Glendale Evening News. Make use of it at once and mail it to Nomination Editor, 139 South Brand, Glendale, California.

14,288 Drivers Penalized For Reckless Ways

More than half of those convicted of violating the state motor vehicle act during 1924 were charged with speeding, according to official figures received by the Automobile Club of Southern California. Of these, 250 drivers had their licenses revoked during the year. There were 14,288 motorists penalized for reckless driving. An increase of 35 per cent over 1923 is shown in the number of convictions under the motor vehicle act.

FINANCIAL PACT IN PERSIA FAILURE

American Members Expected To Leave Dissatisfied With Results

TEHERAN, Persia, Jan. 29.—The American Financial Mission, headed by Dr. Millspaugh, probably will quit Persia when its contract expires within a few months, and undoubtedly will quit dissatisfied.

The success of the mission has not been marked, because of obstacles which have been placed in its way. Thus far the mission has succedeed in establishing control over the revenues and expenditures in practically all departments of the government except the war office. The Persian prime minister stands at the head of the war office and, as this department draws 46 per cent of the total revenue of the country, its refusal to undergo control has been almost a barrier to success of the mission.

Persians are somewhat displeased over the failure of American capital to flow into Persia as the result of the establishment of the mission, and the recent breakdown of the negotiations with the Sinclair Oil Co. has been a blow.

Tax reforms which have been proposed by the mission have met with stiff opposition, some of them having already been vetoed by the parliament; and others, facing a like fate, are now under consideration.

The ruling class in Persia is opposed to taxation and has, therefore, winked at evasions which have been devised.

BEVERLY HILLS FAVORED FOR U. C. SITE?

Board of Regents Look With Approval on Location, According to Report

By GIL A. COWAN
Of The Evening News Staff.

An investigation was ordered by the Senate and Assembly of the California Legislature on the part of the board of regents of the University of California into the eighteen or more proposed sites offered for the southern branch, now located on Vermont avenue, Los Angeles.

Glendale people, with many sons and daughters attending the university, are interested in this question; Burbank has a site to offer which has attracted favorable comment, and the writer believes that the investigation was not wanted by the board.

In fact, the Hollister-Campbell joint resolution calling upon the regents was passed over protests of the university's lobby, according to Van Bernard, agricultural bloc spokesman. Senator Hollister and Assemblyman Campbell come from Santa Barbara county, and it has a site.

The farmers are said to have pledged support to the Fullerton, Orange county site, but what the public wants to know now, it appears, is "what site is favored."

From authentic sources the writer learns that outside of the present location, Beverly Hills —about which little is heard in the university discussion—is favored by the board of regents. And if Beverly Hills is not selected Pasadena, Burbank, Palos Verdes and Fullerton come next in line.

Last night a meeting was held by interested property owners in Los Angeles with a view of keeping the southern branch where it is. That would satisfy the many interests which desire it to be more or less of a "city university."

But there is some little insistence that the co-eds have a more exclusive environment. To this the Los Angeles interests are willing to agree, provided that environment is found within ten miles of the center of population.

Assemblyman Frank C. Weller of Glendale introduced three measures in the Legislature last week, one authorizing the sale of the present site, in case another location is found more suitable by the board of regents.

He introduced another bill calling for a $250,000 for the purchase of a new site, or the purchase of thirteen additional acres on the Vermont avenue district, if the branch is not moved.

And the third bill calls for a tentative appropriation for new buildings. In the upper house Senator Charles W. Lyon has a bill calling for $600,000 for new buildings, but this figure could be changed in committee to whatever is deemed necessary.

The Glendale Evening News favors the Burbank site, and joining with all others in the city and valley, is working for that site. But, while Glendale is particularly interested in Burbank obtaining the university site, neither city should be deluded by the non-committal attitude of the board of regents. They would have it appear there is no choice, the writer is given to understand.

Because of their attitude the Legislature took action demanding a hearing on the eighteen or more different offers.

Nebraska Will Taboo Rented Bathing Suits

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 29.—The House of Representatives of the Nebraska Legislature will be called upon today to consider the prohibition of renting bathing suits in pools throughout the state, according to plans by Representative R. E. Hines of Douglas county, author of the bill.

Another bill, to be introduced in the Senate today, would make the alienation of affections of a husband or wife a felony punishable by fine and imprisonment.

DOBINSON PLAYER GIVES COMPLAINT

Joseph McManus, Educated As Lawyer, Never Given Role of One

Joseph McManus, leading man for the Dobinson Players, has a grievance, a hard-luck story with a vengeance.

"I don't like to complain," he admitted today, "but one of my secret ambitions is being constantly thwarted. You see, I was educated for the bar—not the bar that Mr. Volstead succeeded in eliminating, but the bar . . . oh, well, I mean the legal profession. And—"

Here the tall, black-haired, ruddy-cheeked, young Irishman looked exasperated. "The irony of the whole situation is that I always wanted to dramatically plead a case before a judge and jury. Not having the good fortune to make good as a lawyer in real life, I have always inwardly cherished the hope that I would play many lawyer roles' on the stage. I know exactly," he added, emphatically, "just how a lawyer acts, thinks, aspires. I even know how he's supposed to carry a brief-case.

Never a Lawyer

"And am I ever cast as a lawyer? Never! Since coming to Glendale I've been a doctor in two plays—'Mamma's Affair' and the present production, 'Love Laughs' —and a crook, a detective, and a man-about-town. During a season in Seattle recently, there were sixteen plays with lawyers in them, and I was never cast for one of them!

"I'm not qualified to hold a thermometer, be a Sherlock Holmes, or be a man-about-town, by nature. As to my qualifications for playing a crook role, I'd rather not say. As a doctor, I am often called upon in plays to take some pretty girl's pulse—an experience which usually results in my losing ten or fifteen pounds during the week. I don't like spying on anyone, and I've never been able to figure out just what constitutes a man-about-town.

"And to cap it all, Mrs. Dobinson has cast me as a bridegroom in our next play, 'Wedding Bells.' Now, what am I going to do? I've never had even a single day's experience as a bridegroom!"

WORLD FLYER IS HONORED BY BRAND

Pioneer Glendale Resident, Banker, Gives $30,000 Plane to Smith

Captain Lowell Smith, commander of America's round-the-world flight, is the possessor today of a $30,000 Le Pere airplane, gift of L. C. Brand of Glendale, pioneer aviator and leading citizen, president of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., Los Angeles. The presentation was made yesterday at Mr. Brand's airdrome at the corner of Grand View avenue and Mountain street, opposite "Miradero," his castle estate.

The Le Pere plane presented Captain Smith was built by W. D. Waterman and rebuilt by Donald Douglas, builder of the four famous air cruisers that carried the Stars and Stripes around the world, shattering all records. It is said to be one of the only three ships of its kind in the United States.

E. L. Remlin, aviator, represented Mr. Brand in turning over the gift, which he said was presented in appreciation of Captain Smith's valiant services to his country and to aviation. Captain Smith accepted, saying he appreciated that unique method of bestowing honor upon him.

Captain Smith is on leave of absence from the U. S. army, visiting in Los Angeles, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Smith, live. It was said that of all the gifts showered upon the commander of the round-the-world flight, the gift of the Le Pere plane was the most substantial and appropriate.

Donor, Pioneer Flyer

L. C. Brand has been an airplane enthusiast for many years and was the first Glendalian to fly above the city. He has long maintained his airdrome and hangar at Grand View avenue and Mountain street, and his planes are now a common sight in the air. With his pilot, Mr. Brand frequently goes aloft, making many flights to San Diego, Santa Barbara and other coast points north and south.

Following is the novel bill of sale whereby L. C. Brand conveyed right and title in the $30,000 Le Pere plane to Captain Lowell Smith:

"KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS That L. C. Brand, the party of the first part, for and in consideration of valiant service rendered his country, in his successful around-the-world airplane flight, to Captain Lowell Smith, the party of the second part, does by these presents grant, bargain, sell and convey unto the said party of the second part, his executors, administrators and assigns, one Le Pere airplane, built by W. D. Waterman, and rebuilt by Donald Douglass and now located in my hangar at the corner of Grand View Avenue and mountain avenue, Glendale, California.

"TO HAVE AND TO HOLD the same to said party of the second part, his executors, administrators and assigns forever, and I do for my heirs, executors and administrators covenant and agree to and with the said party of the second part, his executors, administrators and assigns, to warrant and defend the title to the said property, goods and chattels hereby conveyed, against the just and lawful claim and demands of all persons whomsover. WITNESS my hand and seal this twenty-seventh day of January, 1925.

"Signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of Mrs. L. C. Brand.

"L. C. BRAND."

The bill of sale is signed by L. C. Brand and witnessed by Mrs. Brand, his wife. It is hand lettered on parchment and constitutes, next to the airplane itself, one of Captain Smith's most treasured possessions.

SURVEY SHOWS NEED FOR MORE SCHOOLS

Estimated Enrollment for Next Year in Excess of Housing Possibilities, Members of Board Report

The following statement has been prepared by the publicity committee for the coming school bond election and handed to The Glendale Evening News for publication:

The recent survey of the local school situation made jointly by the Glendale city Board of Education and the Board of Trustees of the Glendale Union High school shows the necessity for definite immediate action to provide for the present needs and the future welfare of our high school students.

The high school students are now cared for in the small Harvard school and the incomplete Broadway school. The ninth grade and all the shop classes are at Harvard. The tenth, eleventh and twelfth are at Broadway. The Broadway plant has not enough class rooms, no shops or gymnasiums. When these additions are made, it will care for all of the work for 2,250 students.

Few people realize that the present enrollment exceeds this number, and that if Broadway High were now completed it would still be necessary to use Harvard.

Figures Are Quoted

Total enrollment: The high school total enrollment, exclusive of night school, has increased from 916 in 1919-1920 to 2,282 in 1923-1924.

Average daily attendance: The average of the percentages of increase each year over the preceding year for the past five years is 24 per cent; for the last three years, 29 per cent.

Present actual number in attendance: The actual number of students in attendance at the high school in the month closing January 2, 1925, was 2,126. This does not mean total enrollment for the school year but students actually in attendance during this month.

Estimate of actual number enrolled for month of February, 1925: The nearest estimate of actual students who will be enrolled in the high school next month, after adding 189 or more students who will enter from grammar schools, and deducting twenty-two students who will complete their high school work, is approximately 2,300. This means that in September, 1924, it was necessary to provide accommodations and equipment to take care of 2,300 students attending at one time during 1924-1925.

For Future Needs

Estimate of future needs. Estimating the rate of gain on the conservative basis of 20 per cent for each of the next three years, it will be necessary to provide capacity in September, 1927, for 3,974 students who will be attending during that year. Estimating for the following two years on the basis of only 15 per cent increase yearly, it will be necessary in September, 1929, to provide for 5,255 students. These conservative estimates show that in laying out a program for the next five years, it will be necessary at the end of that time to provide actual accommodations for 5,000 students.

The class room capacity of the Harvard High is about 800 and the Broadway High, when class rooms, shops and gymnasiums are completed, approximately 2,250. If both the Harvard and the Broadway schools were used to their full capacity, after the Broadway High is completed, there will be on this basis approximately 1,000 excess students to be provided for in the new high school in the northwest for the year beginning September, 1927. To any conservative observer of Glendale and her growth, these facts make it very clear that the need of more high school facilities here is imminent.

Transportation is an important problem to be considered in the future development of the high school system. Many of the students have long distances to go, even within the limits of Glendale city. This involves serious problems of expense and personal welfare. It is only fair that all sections of the district have equal advantages as far as is possible. With that in mind, your board recommends:

Purchase of Sites

The purchase of a site—One in the Northwest section of Glendale; one in Sunland-Tujunga and one in Montrose-Crescenta. It is becoming very difficult to find unsubdivided tracts large enough and suitably placed for school purposes. We can secure such tracts now. If action in this matter is postponed, it will make it necessary to purchase improved property at practically prohibitive prices. In connection with the purchase of these sites, we assure you that we will use condemnation proceedings as provided by law rather than pay an unreasonable price for the required property.

Harvard High

We recommend the use of the Harvard high for school purposes for several years. The present program makes its use necessary until the completion of the new school in the northwest part of the city. The prospects of rapid development here indicate the necessity of its use following that time.

Completion of Broadway

We recommend the completion of the Broadway plant by the addition of shop buildings for woodwork, auto shop, forge, machine shop, class rooms, gymnasiums and improvements of the grounds for athletic purposes.

School in Northwest

We recommend the construction of a high school plant in the northwest part of the city in which the full four years' course can be given. It will be two and one-half years before this plant can be ready for use and the facts previously given show it is an absolute necessity. Glendale's splendid schools have been one of its chief attractions. To delay this program, even for a few months, means a serious handicap to that prestige.

How Money to Be Spent

Completion of Broadway plant by addition of buildings for class rooms, mechanical drawing, woodworking, forge, auto shop, machine shop, two gymnasiums and improvement of grounds, approximately $300,000.

Site, auditorium for 2,000 people, buildings and furnishings for not less than 1,000 students, in the Northwest section of Glendale, approximately $825,000.

Sites only for Sunland-Tujunga and Montrose-Crescenta, approximately $75,000. Total $1,200,000.

Statement by Board

This is the program as outlined by the Board of Trustees. In view of the foregoing, we, the Board of Trustees of the Glendale Union High School District make the following statements:

1. We believe the continued growth of Glendale is inevitable

MORE BIDS ON SEWER, PLAN OF CITY

Council Decides on Eight Interceptor Units to Be Installed Soon

Four members of the City Council met last night with the sewer advisory committee and decided to let contracts for sewer mains and laterals in eight different sections, separate bids to be advertised on each interceptor unit. Inasmuch as this is a deviation from the plans and specifications prepared by Burns, McDonnell & Smith, sewer engineers, in which the work was divided into but three sections, these plans will have to be revised before official council action can be taken. Revision will be pushed through and the new plans and specifications will probably be presented to the City Council at the session of Tuesday, February 3.

Last night's meeting was held in the committee room adjoining the council chambers, at the City Hall, and was presided over by Mayor Spencer Robinson. Other councilmen present were S. A. Davis, C. E. Kimlin and H. G. MacBain. The sewer advisory committee was represented by Herman Nelson, Alexander Mitchell, Bert P. Woodard, John A. Logan and W. L. Truitt.

Construction of these eight interceptor units will involve several hundred thousand dollars, it is understood. The money will come out of the $1,600,000 already made available by the voters of Glendale, for installation of a complete sewer system connecting with the Los Angeles outfall sewer, work on the three main sections of which has been under way for some months.

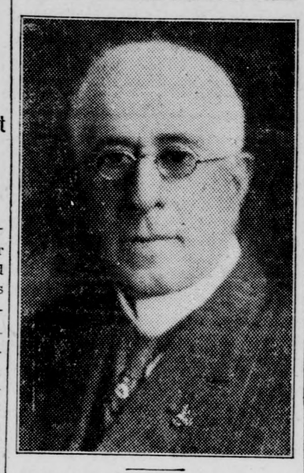
Head of Firm

L. J. CHRISTOPHER, president of the Christopher Ice Cream Co., which opens its Glendale plant today.



Marking industrial growth in Glendale, "The Fastest Growing City in America," an added development of business interests established thirty-seven years ago in Los Angeles, the new Christopher ice-cream factory at Wilson avenue and Concord street, representing the expenditure of approximately $100,000 and providing a $10,000 a month payroll, was opened this afternoon to people of Glendale and other cities of the San Fernando valley.

For well over a quarter of a century L. J. Christopher has been recognized for his business success as head of the Christopher Ice Cream Co., manufacturers of high-grade ice cream and candy. As president and founder of the corporation Mr. Christopher has seen his business keep marked step with the phenomenal prosperity and growth of Southern California. It has been his personality that has dominated every phase of development of his business and today, when the fifth unit of the company was opened in Glendale, he was on hand to extend genial hospitality to those visiting the

THIS DISTRICT GETS FUNDS FOR POWER

Southern California Edison To Spend $250,000 On Improving System

During this year the Southern California Edison Co. will spend $250,000 in the Lankershim district for extensions and reinforcement of its electric distributing system. District Manager Rowan received this information from the general offices of the company this morning.

The total appropriations for power development and distribution system betterments of the Southern California Edison Co. for the year 1925 exceed $25,000,000. Important recommendations were made by Mr. Rowan to General Manager R. H. Ballard at the close of the year, detailing the requirements of the local system. The local appropriations include a portion of the San Joaquin River-Big creek diversion project and the great Long Beach steam plant, delivering electrical energy to Lankershim and its immediate vicinity, and cover extensions and reinforcements of the local distributing lines and stations.

Lankershim's Growth

In commenting on the development of the territory comprising the Lankershim district Mr. Rowan said:

"The growth of our district ranks very high in the general development of Southern California. Both in number of new consumers and added connected load in horsepower the entire district which includes the cities of Burbank, Glendale, Lankershim, San Fernando, Universal City, Newhall, Saugus, and the intervening territory, has maintained an annual increase slightly above 20 per cent. To keep pace with this

Daily Greeting to News Readers

PREJUDICE—
Is the devil's masterpiece of passion.
Robs the heart of all the spirit of kindness.
Ties the hands that would work mercy.
Blinds the eyes that would see virtue.
Stops the ears that would hear high praise.
Poisons the tongue that would speak goodwill.
Trips the feet that would walk uprightly.

BOTTLED SUNSHINE

When we read of the extremely low temperatures that have prevailed in eastern states the past winter and consider that there is no relief for those who cannot come to this or some other sunny clime, we wonder why scientists, who have accomplished marvels and who have added so much to the joy and comfort of life, cannot do something to alleviate the condition of those who must dwell in freezing temperatures and cheerless climates for so many months of the year. Of course there has been much progress in methods of heating buildings, but all cannot afford the most approved heating apparatus in their homes.

Many of us are little more versed in the knowledge of science than the woman whose partner at a dinner party shame-facedly admitted to her that he knew nothing about electricity, not even what made the electric light come on. Amazed, she responded, "You don't? Why, you just press the button."

Someone suggests that it ought not to be so difficult to condense and confine in containers the warm air of the summertime, to be shipped to cold climates and released in winter to temper the frigid atmosphere. Or regions where there is intense heat in summer and intense cold in winter could can heat in summer for their own use. This si not exactly a novel idea, since Dean Swift in "Gulliver's Trvaels" tells of a man at the Academy of Lagado who had been working eight years upon a project for extracting sunbeams from cucumbers which were to be put into phials, hermetically sealed, and let out to warm the air in raw, inclement summers. "He told me," said Swift, "that he did not doubt in eight years more he would be able to supply the governor's gardens with sunshine at a reasonable rate; but he complained that his stock was low and entreated me to give him something as an encouragement to ingenuity, especially as this had been a very dear season for cucumbers."

All sorts of plans for peace are being discussed and negotiations for peace being carried on, but yet we are told that France at any time could send a fleet of airplanes over London and completely annihilate that city, destroying all life in a number of horrible ways, depending upon the particular kind of poison gas they might choose to employ, and that England could do the same to Paris.

To a layman who doesn't even know "what makes the lights come on" it would seem just as easy and a great deal more humane and beneficial to the world for scientists to manufacture or to condense and confine the heat of sunshine so that air fleets could sail over a freezing city and release it from the grip of the ice-king or waft balmy breezes that would offset the freezing temperature. Even we, here in sunny California, could use a little of this canned heat at times when the orange crop is threatened by the low temperatures.

Long ago we chained the lightning and have put it to work in every conceivable way, from lighting and heating our homes and making our toast to drawing our cars. Is it so much more ridiculous to talk of confining the sun's heat? It does not behoove either the most ignorant or the most learned of us to say that it cannot be done.

But perhaps we, here in California, should not advocate any such discovery or invention, since it is the extreme temperatures of the east that are the foundation of our prosperity.

EDUCATION HOPE OF WORLD

The only hope of the world is in the education of the young. David Starr Jordan in his prize-winning essay on world peace stated that the future of nations rests with the schools, that peace is entirely a matter of education.

Education for good citizenship should be the purpose of both the home and the school. Ernest Thompson Seton has said that manhood, not scholarship, is the first aim of education. Every criminal is the result of improper training or lack of proper training. Nearly everyone, good or bad, is what he is because of instructions he has received.

What of the girl matricide and that other girl of her own age who wrote her at the prison where she is confined, congratulating her on her release from maternal restraint? When girls of sixteen have such a warped view of life and such a distorted idea of the value of parental discipline, others are to blame. Children allowed to grow up without restraint do not make good citizens. If they do not learn to respect the authority of the home they will not respect the authority of the law when they grow older.

It is said that the course in safety education carried on in the schools of Los Angeles has resulted in a decrease of automobile accidents to children. The effect of this training has been felt already, but it will be cumulative, since training in caution and self-control will mean greater safety for the public when these children have grown old enough to operate machines themselves. Teaching the children today to observe regulations and have consideration for others will make for the safety of the community in after years, as well as for the safety of the children themselves, today.

Education is so much cheaper than punishment. Society has depended upon punishment to decrease carelessless and crime all the way along the line from the reckless driver to the outlaw nation, when through education so much more could have been accomplished at less expense and without creating criminals.

All that is needed to make over the world in the next generation is to train the children of today in good citizenship. Brand Whitlock has defined education as the ability to put oneself in the place of every other person in the world, and he says if we had a world made up of people possessing this kind of culture we would have no more poverty, crime, vice or war in the world. Children must learn respect for authority and the rights of others, the joy of service and the futility of wrong-doing and crime. It makes a deal of difference whether a child learns self-control in the home and whether the schools make him an intellectual giant alone or teach him to develop the spriitual side of his nature.

Those who are engaged in the training of the young have a rtemendous responsibility resting upon them. They are not only responsible for the child's future but for the future of the country and the world.

The devil grows the poppy, but the planter gets the profit.

He walks long who lives far, and he lives long who walks far.

TOUGH SLEDDING!

The Dead Hand

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The dead hand means the power of money which is left by will for a certain purpose, and is administered for that purpose.

The world is swayed not only by the public opinion of those living, but by means of the dead hand also—by those who are dead.

The way humanity is constituted, no idea can lack for defenders or propagandists as long as there is plenty of money to spend. Many institutions continue to exist simply because they are endowed. All other reasons for their existence has passed away.

Robert Schalkenbach, president of the John C. Rankin company of printers in New York, recently left a sum of money to advance the principles expounded by Henry George. In other words, the principles of the tax on land values.

Whether this a good thing for the single tax movement or not depends upon your point of view. Whether it is a good thing for a church or any other sort of institution to be heavily endowed is open to question.

As long as it continues to be of use to humanity, it will be supported by the gifts from the living. When living people no longer see the use of it, or when they have become indifferent to it, it falls back upon the largesse of the dead.

In a way, therefore, leaving money to advance the cause of any good purpose is a subtle expression of unfaith in that purpose. It means that it will not continue to receive the support of the living, and will fall back upon the support of the dead.

It is always difficult to tell what to do with money after one has acquired it, but there would seem to be no question that money is well expended in the training of youth and in the equipment of them for the problems of life. So far, education ranks first as a worthy object for the benevolence of those who wish to dispose of their money in some way beneficial to humanity.

Next, perhaps, comes the progress of medical science, the purpose of which is to prolong and enrich human life.

Beyond these two things, money cannot do much good. It is a question whether it ought to be applied to the advancement of one sort of opinion or another.

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as rather an uncertain day in which it is well to watch thoughts as well as actions. Mercury and Neptune are both strongly adverse. In the evening Saturn is in benefic aspect.

All who pursue the learned professions may expect a year in which new avenues of usefulness develop.

Speeches, lectures and whatever conveys useful information will be mediums for scientific education, which will be even more esteemed in 1925 than ever before.

New inventions and new discoveries will make decided changes in many lines of work and will greatly benefit the rising generation.

This is held to be an unfavorable day for real estate transactions, although evening conferences should be fairly successful.

Wise persons will defer the signing of leases and contracts until a more fortunate planetary government.

This date is not a lucky one for sailing on long voyages, for bad weather appears to be threatened on the Pacific as well as the Atlantic ocean.

Psychologists warn that thought forms projected by men and women are responsible for many disasters and they counsel the most serene outlook on life.

The evening should be a profitable time to deal with coal men and plumbers. Matters of a slow and serious nature are well directed after 8 p. m.

Aged men and women are believed to be especially vulnerable to the wiles of the young while this configuration prevails. It is a favorable rule under which relatives should borrow money, if they need it.

All the influences this evening are good for those who occupy positions of trust and engage in executive work on a large scale.

The seers foretell the development of a race of unusual beauty in the United States and declare that even now the standard is as high as it was in Greece's most lauded period.

Persons whose birthdate it is should not waste money on useless possessions or borrow trouble. The year should be happy.

Children born on this day may be inclined to love artistic luxuries while they eliminate all that is gross. These subjects of Aquarius probably will be brilliant, self-sufficient and successful.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

Today's Poem

LINES FROM 'MAUD'

There has fallen a splendid tear
From the passion flower at the gate,
She is coming, my dove, my dear;
She is coming, my life, my fate;
The red rose cries, "She is near, she is near;
And the white rose weeps, "She is late";
The larkspur listens, "I hear, I hear";
And the lily whispers, "I wait."

She is coming, my own, my sweet,
Were it ever so airy a tread,
My heart would hear her and beat,
Were it earth in an earthly bed;
My dust would hear her and beat,
Had I lain for a century dead;
Would start and tremble under her feet,
And blossom in purple and red.
—TENNYSON.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

Who is there who has not at some time selfishely held himself to be all-sufficient, and half-consciously, half-knowingly, excused his attitude to both himself and to others?

But, on the other hand, is there anyone who has not, at some given moment, recognized in himself a hive of contradiction—between his word and his deed, his will and his work, his life and his principles?

> The great secret of power is never to will to do more than you can accomplish.
> Th great secret of action and victory is to be capable of living your life without ideals.
> This is the sum of the world's wisdom.
> —Henrik Ibsen.

In one of his plays, Ibsen, star of the north, puts these words into the mouth of one of his characters:

"Men are like that, Ella. They both believe and doubt at the same time."

Ibsen opined that, if you deprive the average man of his life-lie you deprive him, also, of his happiness.

Man is on the dissecting table constantly, in Ibsen's works. These are some of the surgeon's notes:

Examine the consicence of any man you please, and you will find at least one dark spot which he must keep hidden.

Men are singular beings. They must always have something to amuse them.

Men yield to certain egotistical feelings simply for lack of desire to combat them.

Each lies to himself as well as to the world.

No man will sacrifice his honor, even for one he loves. Millions of women have done so!

FEAR, HOPE and DISAPPOINTMENT. In these three words is written the life of man.

It seemed to Ibsen that the impulse which a man brings to his work is, in a greater or lesser degree, born with him; yet even if circumstances alone be his compelling force, the final result in all cases will be the same.

In the first case he follows his own inclination, and, therefore, always has sufficient reward for his labors; in the second, he works under compulsion, but this very compulsion is a boon, as through it he is enabled to ameliorate his status and acquire greater possibilities of well-being and enjoyment.

ROTARIANS FOR SCHOOL BONDS

Unanimous Approval of Club Given $2,400,000 Issue After Several Talks

W. E. Hewitt and James W. Everington were called upon by Superintendent Richardson D. White of the Glendale city schools to tell the Rotary club, at its regular weekly luncheon in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, about the coming school bond election.

"The date is February 17," Mr. Hewitt told the club, "and the bond issue will be for $2,400,000. Go to the polls and vote," the speaker urged, outlining the facts about the school system.

Colonel Everington told of housing grammar grades in temporary shacks, how the high school will need more room by 1927 and answered generally arguments advanced in opposition to the program.

Mr. Hewitt quoted liberally from statistics showing that this program ought to carry the city through for five years unless population rolls in at more rapid rate than the last two years.

The Rotary club on motion of George B. Karr, seconded by R. Ernest Tucker, went on record as endorsing the bond issue after the board of directors had reported in favor. The names of members will be used, it was explained by Mr. White.

Les Lavelle introduced Ellsworth de Parcq, new student body president, who will represent the school at the club luncheons.

H. S. White, department store owner, told of good business conditions in the east, with plenty of "cheap money" on Wall street. He said that California would benefit from the change of conditions.

Warren Z. Newton reported on the Rotary Boy Scouts' visit to Clarence Kaighin's candy factory and J. A. Newton's electric shop. Dan Kelty announced a valentine party for Rotarians and Rotary-Anns on Friday, February 13, at Sunset Canyon Country club. William Hunter urged members to plan to attend the Fresno district conference in March.

Rek Kelley of the Y. M. C. A. appeared to ask for a dozen men for "fatherless sons" at the annual Father and Son banpuet, February 9. Governor Richardson will be the principal speaker.

The Chamber of Commerce forum dinner will be the same night under the direction of the High School Teachers' club with Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, as the principal speaker. This was announced by George U. Moyse, high school principal.

The following visiting Rotarians were in attendance: George D. Palmer, Galva, Ill.; Ben Barnard, Mitchell, S. D.; Tom Dudley, Huntington Park; W. C. Wickendenden, San Luis Obispo; Abner E. Hitchcock, Santa Rosa; Joe Pardick and Leonard Collins, Burbank; Roy Sherry and G. W. Whittlesey, Pasadena; and E. J. Steineke, Long Beach.

Several local visitors, guests of members, also were present, who were introduced.

companies and from owners of large tracts of land in Mexico now watered by the Colorado river canals, is in all instances illegitimate, Mr. Moody declared.

Rentals obtained through leasing of the power resources will repay the government the amount spent in constructing the dam within a period of 25 years, the speaker said. He urged wholehearted support by the people of Glendale for the passage of the Swing-Johnson bill.

Mr. Moody spoke at the meeting of the Greater Glendale Luncheon club at the Masonic temple today at noon. Francis Henry, manager of the Sierra Beverage Co., announced the performances f "Hello Dearie" at the Broadway High school tonight and tomorrow night under the auspices of Glendale chapter De Molay. An invitation to attend the next forum dinner of the Chamber of Commerce at the Broadway High school was extended by O. E. McDowell, president of the High School Teachers' club. Bronson DeCou will exhibit his famed "dream pictures" at the meeting of the club next Thursday, it was announced by Chairman George Orgibet. The attendance prize today, offered by The Boys' Shop, was won by James Prescott. Next weeks' prize will be given by C. J. Hatz.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPANDENTS

"Dear Doctor: Here we are—two chums—seeking help. I am 16 years old, five feet, two and one-half inches tall, and weigh just 90 pounds; my chum is 17, five feet, three inches tall and weighs 192! I want to gain some 20 pounds (I'm so thin it hurts when I lean against a wall)—she wants to shave off 40 pounds so they won't giggle at the pair of us on the streets. Please send us each the reducing-and-gaining pamphlets. Here is the 20 cents and two self-addressed, stamped envelopes.

"Also you will earn our eternal devotion and prayers if you will tell us how to chase away the pimples that run riot over our noble faces.—The Spratts."

By the time this appears you will have had your booklets. I expect to hear from you again pretty soon telling me that you have started your devotional services.

"Chum" has got to decrease her calories 1,000 per day under her maintenance and you have to increase them 1,000 a day. (You should do this gradually, but "chum" can jump right at 'em. Away from 'em, I should say.) You should be having at least one quart or more of whole milk and "chum" should have at least three glasses of skim milk. You are both growing and you need the lime salts and complete protein that the milk will furnish. The booklet will give you more in detail about the diet and exercise needed.

As you have acne—it is quite common in growing boys and girls—when you increase your calories, don't increase your fats in any way. Of course, "chum" should cut her fats and sweets down to the vanishing point.

I think when you get rid of your thinness and your fatness your "noble faces" are going to be rid of their rioters too. Any thing that lowers the resistance of the body (and thinness and fatness will do that) also lowers the resistance of the skin, and the germs simply love that. You will have to combine your general treatment of building up your bodies with a local treatment.

For the local treatment, scrub your faces well at night, with hot water and soap and gently squeeze out the blackheads, first thoroughly cleaning the hands. Never squeeze a pimple or blackhead without the thorough cleaning first, and don't do much pimple squeezing—it makes them worse. And don't ever squeeze pimples on the upper lip. After this treatment apply an antiseptic—ordinary sulphur ointment is considered good, and sometimes, just boracic acid powder patted on the face when it is wet, will do the work. Sometimes, laundry soap washes are effective.

If your acne is very severe, you should go to a skin specialist. Write again—do.

Chronic Starvation

Mr. B.—There is no doubt that whatever your trouble is, it is complicated and perhaps caused by your prolonged undernutrition. You say that the X-Rays and examinations have shown that you have no ulcers or other organic causes for your ill health.

Conditions such as you have described have been experienced by many people during wars and sieges. It has been shown in the experimental feeding of animals that degenerative changes in the digestive organs can be brought about by a prolonged starvation, and then, of course, there is a failure to assimilate the food properly, and dysentery and general discomfort result.

You must stop being afraid of food, but because of undoubted degenerative changes and because of the temporary lowering of tone in the intestinal tract, you must increase your diet very gradually. Even the gradual increase may cause some discomfort, but you will have to have the local discomfort before you can overcome your general discomfort. Send for the booklet the Spratt twins mention in the preceding letter.

Tomorrow—Answers to Mothers

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e., if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Chats On Beauty

MANICURE HELPS

Most of my readers, I think, have my cold cream formula, which can be made up two ways, one with mineral oil as a cleansing cream, and the other with almond or olive oil as a flesh builder, or what stores generally term a massage cream. I've been advising making this up as a cleanser, and making more than is needed because the extra amount can be used in several ways other than on the face.

For instance, a small pot of it should be somewhere about the dressing table. The last thing at night, a little of the cream should be rubbed into each finger nail (preferably right after the hands are washed with soap and water) and then the skin pushed back with the end of an orange wood stick. This keeps the cuticle soft all the time, prevents hangnails, and makes a thorough manicure necessary only once a week or less, instead of every few days as happens if the nails are neglected.

Every woman likes pink nails. It's a fad of course, some seasons we have them almost red, and that's ugly. But pink nails have been thought beautiful from the time of the ancient Egyptians and no doubt the ancient Chinese, too, if we only happened to know about it. Probably this is because pink nails, like pink ears, indicate health and a good circulation. Well, to achieve a fashionable, and slightly more than healthy pinkness, you have only to take a tablespoonful or so of the cold cream, cleansing or flesh making, it doesn't matter, put it in a tiny pot and powder in some rouge, adding the red until the cream is itself fairly red. Rub this into your nails after a manicure, when you are ready to polish, or rub it in at night, it doesn't matter. Or when you are dressing to go out, rub in a little, push back the cuticle with an orange wood stick, wipe off as much cream as you can and polish with a buffer. Your nails will be nicely pink in the corners.

E. E. E.—Your hair appears to be lacking in vitality as there is no lustre to it. If you give your scalp a daily massage to increase its circulation you will improve the condition and it may be all that is necessary to stop this tendency to stray gray hairs. You can tint such hairs by using henna.

Mrs. P. A. E.—An astringent made from white of egg is not drying to the skin to any extent, but you should always follow up such a treatment with an application of cream or a good oil and massage as much of it into the skin as the pores will absorb. Such treatment is only for times when the skin requires special care, and not oftener than once a week. The proportions are one-part white of egg to six parts water. Usually the small amount of white left in the shell after dropping out the whole egg will be enough when the right quantity of water is added, to cover the face and throat entirely. Leave it on skin for about 20 minutes before washing off, and before you make the oil or cream application.

Rub the Chest

For Deep, Heavy Colds

All colds should be treated with vapors, for vapors alone can carry the medication DIRECTLY to the air passages and lungs.

Vicks is a "vapor" treatment in salve form. For deep chest colds you first apply hot wet towels over throat and chest to open the pores, then massage briskly with Vicks for 5 minutes, spread on thickly and cover with a flannel cloth.

Vicks not only penetrates like a poultice or plaster, but the ingredients, vaporized by the body heat, are inhaled all night long. This double action usually checks the most stubborn cold overnight.

Through correspondence with my readers I find that many women are puzzled about the question of cleaning their furniture. I therefore believe the following suggestions will be found helpful:

To Clean Carved Furniture: A painter's brush with long bristles will remove the dust from the crevices (so will a bellows or a vacuum blower). Wipe the surface carving with a soft cloth wrung out of warm suds of white soap, then let dry. Now mix together equal parts of parraffin oil and turpentine and dip your long-bristled painter's brush into this mixture. Do not wet more than just the tips of the bristles, however; also remove the surplus moisture from the bristles by squeezing the tip of the brush for an instant with a piece of cloth. Go over the carved portions with this and treat the plain surfaces of the carving with a piece of cheesecloth which is moistened with the same turpentine-oil mixture. Finish by polishing with a piece of clean flannel.

To Clean Dull-Finished Walnut or Oak: Make a suds with tepid water and white naphtha soap. Go over only a small portion of the furniture at a time with a soft cloth dipped in this suds and rub dry with flannel before proceeding to the next place. Finish by applying any high-grade furniture polish on a clean piece of soft flannel, rubbing it in till the wood no longer feels greasy to the touch. (Note: Do not ask me to recommend brands of furniture polish through this column as I am not allowed to mention tradenames for advertising reasons. Your local hardware store will be able to advise you.)

To Clean Rattan, Reed or Willow Furniture: Remove dust by blowing with a bicycle pump, a bellows, or the blower attachment of the vacuum cleaner. If the piece of furniture has a "natural finish" wash it well with warm soapsuds containing one teaspoon of borax to the quart, applying this with a scrubbing brush. If, however, the piece is stained or painted you must use the method given below:

To Clean Shellacked, Varnished, Painted or Oil-Stained Furniture: These finishes require the application of a little equally mixed turpentine and linseed oil or some liquid wax.

To Clean Mahogany: When covered with finger-marks or with that bluish, cloudy appearance known as "bloom," go over the wood with a piece of fine cheesecloth moistened slightly with a good furniture polish or wrung from warm water which contains one tablespoon each of turpentine and linseed oil to the quart. Polish with velveteen or silk.

Tomorrow: The Popular Pancake

Circle Growing

Mutual Benefit Reading Circle members met yesterday at the Public Library. The forty members present were interested in hearing the chairman, Mrs. H. V. Henry, tell of the enthusiasm shown by a group of Long Beach women, whom she visited Tuesday in the interests of reading circle work. She also read a letter from Miss Lombard of the educational bureau in Washington, D. C., commending the Glendale circle for extension work being done in Los Angeles county. Mrs. C. M. Taylor gave a review of the book, "The Better the Body, the Better the Brain" by William Emerson, who states that school statistics show that the normal mental child is normal in body, while a sub-normal mind is found in a sub-normal body. Mrs. O. H. Spradling told of the recent P.-T. A. conference at Alhambra. In the afternoon Mrs. Henry read from the study book "The Job of Being a Dad." She read the chapter, "A Boy As An Imitator," which showed that a boy is an imitator one per cent through touch; one per cent through taste; one per cent through smell; twelve per cent through hearing; and eighty-five per cent through sight, proving that they imitate many of the things they see their fathers do. Mrs. Dogget, Mrs. Dryer and Mrs. Rowe are to serve on the circle tea committee during February.

MOTOR TRUCK TO REPLACE 'DOBBIN'

Horses and Wagons Barred From Business Section In Some Cities

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Bobbin's day is about done, so far as city transportation of freight is concerned. Transportation experts predict the horse and wagon will disappear from city streets absolutely as it has from street car service. At least one city in the country has prohibited the passage of horse drawn vehicles through certain main arteries of traffic and similar action is being considered in a dozen other large centers.

Dobbin simply has not been able to keep up with the procession. It is but a few years ago that drivers were prosecuted for driving their wagons at the reckless speed of eight miles an hour, but today movement of traffic through city streets at so slow a pace would cause immediate and disastrous congestion.

As a result, the automobile truck is replacing the horse drawn vehicle for transportation of freight. The American Express Co. in New York, it became known today, will replace every horse-drawn vehicle now in service with a motor truck. Plans now are under consideration by the port authorities of New York for truck distribution of railroad freight.

More Trucks Used

Thirty-three railroads now are using trucks on parts of their lines in place of railroad cars, and twenty-one additional roads are investigating with a view to installing motor transport services. These factors have shoved truck production up to 370,000 vehicles in the last year compared with 3,280,000 passenger autos.

"The ratio of truck production to passenger car output will increase decidedly during the coming year," said Walter C. White, president of the White Motor Co., today. "Every additional mile of improved road and of street paving is adding to truck demand. So far as passenger vehicles go, I do not look for sales or production to decrease, but I do expect that the industry will gravitate into fewer hands. In other words, some companies will show largely increased sales in the coming year but these gains will be at the expense of some other producer rather than from virgin fields. MOTORISTS HIT BY VARIETY OF BILLS

Increased Gas Tax, Speeding Negligent Homicide, Among Others

Motorists are deeply concerned with the mass of bills presented the forty-sixth California Legislative session in its three weeks of preliminary work. Taxes, licenses, fees, speed regulations and highway questions are dealt with in a maze of measures which are being rolled off the presses in the state printing office.

Authors of many bills either do not know their content, or they have gone to their home districts with the information and only a general summary may be given of issues to be threshed out in committee rooms after the constitutional recess of thirty days.

Gas Tax Bill

Senator Arthur H. Breed introduced bills, following the California Highway committee of Nine's report, which would increase the gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents per gallon, also graduate the weight tax, and increase the plate license fee from $3 to $5. He also introduced a senate constitutional amendment calling for a $25,000,000 bond issue to be submitted the voters at the next state election in 1926.

Another bill by Breed would require a demonstration of ability to control a motor vehicle on a public highway before a chauffeur or operator's license was issued, in addition to a complete statement of qualifications by the applicant. Present chauffeurs would not be required to answer these questions unless they should forfeit their present licenses in court.

Habitual Speeders

Habitual speeders, under this proposal, would forfeit their licenses upon third conviction in one year, as would drivers convicted of manslaughter.

Use of the muffler cutout is declared unlawful, by the terms of the bill; persons promising to appear in court to answer speeding charges and failing to do so would be subject to five days' imprisonment and licenses suspended until they report to the judge. Bicycle riders would be made amenable to the rules of the road.

More equitable license fees for electrically driven cars and those used by farmers in hauling produce also are provided by several amendments to the original Breed act.

New Crime Bill

The one outstanding bill to decrease the number of accidents is that by Frank Weller in the assembly wherein punishment is provided for the new crime of negligent homicide. It would be included in all charges of manslaughter against "hit and run" drivers who run down pedestrians by speeding or reckless driving. Fines, jail and prison terms are provided. Such a law has proved effective in the state of Michigan, Weller has been informed.

Insurance, or casualty bonds to the extent of $5,000, would be required under measures introduced by Assemblymen Henry Carter and Charles Foster, to give redress to those injured, or the heirs of those killed in motor crashes.

Grade Crossings

Senator W. F. Gates introduced a bill providing for the comprehensive study of the grade crossings of the state highways and the appointment of an advisory committee for the purpose of making recommendations to the California Highway commission.

Senator Roy Fellom offered a measure which would authorize the commission to co-operate with the federal bureau of public roads in numbering and marking the roads of interstate character.

Senator C. C. Baker has a measure providing for improvement, maintenance and control of the uncompleted system of state highways, while Senator Breed rounds out the program with bills to divide the state roads into a primary system and secondary system and designating them as such; establishing new highways recommended by the committee of nine in its report; and authorizing the sale and conveyance to the board of control real estate for right-of-way.

More than a score of proposed state highways, asking appropriations, are contained in other bills before the senate and assembly. Highway financing is the one big problem before the solons.

28.—Another $1,000,000 contract for road-building, covering twenty-four projects in this state, will be awarded January 31 by the state highway authorities.

AUTO LICENSE OFFICE OPEN MONDAY

Glendale Applications To Be Received Throughout Next Month

Applications for 1925 licenses will be accepted at the Glendale office, Automobile Club of Southern California, starting Monday, February 2, announces M. B. Towman, manager, who calls attention of the public to the new location of his headquarters, at 413 South Brand boulevard.

The license renewal period will extend through February. A license expert will be employed by the Automobile club to serve its members in this territory, Mr. Towman states. Non-members will be served to the extent of making a careful check of their applications, to insure correctness. This is so that there will be no unnecessary delay at the headquarters of the Division of Motor Vehicles, Sacramento.

It is strongly urged by Mr. Towman that applications for license renewal be made without delay, in order to escape assessment of a 100 per cent penalty to be imposed on delinquent applications.

HUPP DEALER SEES BANNER CAR YEAR

H. V.White, Distributor Here, Says Popularity of New Model Great

Already 1925 promises to be a banner year in Hupmobile sales, according to H. V. White, 228 South Brand boulevard, Glendale manager for H. W. Swanson, Glendale and Hollywood distributor. Many orders for the new Hupp eight, now on display, have been received, he said, and a large shipment en route to Glendale promises to be exhausted in a short time.

The popularity of this new car, apparent from the moment it was announced, has been increasing ever since the public was afforded an opportunity to examine its many distinctive features, Mr. White said. Its extreme compactness of motor, allowing a hood no longer than the average six-cylinder car, is claimed by this dealer as one of its features, another being the exceptionally well proportioned bodies and low graceful lines of the enclosed models.

The new Hupmobile factory built especially to produce this new model, already taxed to the utmost to meet the demand, will soon be unable to turn out sufficient cars to supply the dealers, Mr. White said.

'BILTWELL' TIRE IS GUARANTEED SALE

Glendale Branch Points to Advantage of Buying This Product

"A great advantage in buying 'Biltwell' tires," states R. L. Saxon, proprietor of the Glendale branch of the Biltwell Tire Co., located at 914 South San Fernando road, "is the fact that all 'Biltwells' are fully guaranteed, and the company does not hesitate to make adjustments to us on faulty tires; therefore, being fully protected, we can make adjustments when the customer comes in, and not keep him waiting."

This is a feature that is gaining popularity among auto owners, and they like to know they are safe in buying. Inasmuch as every tire that goes on the road is covered completely it is surprising how few come in for any kind of adjustments.

Four Years' Trial

The Biltwell Tire Co. has been in continuous operation in Southern California for over four years and has built up an enviable business and reputation for manufacturing good tires. The local plant, according to Mr. Saxon, is open for inspection at any time, and visitors are welcome.

Mr. Saxon claims that, by having a large volume of business and a large turnover of stock, by buying tires in huge quantities, he is able to meet all competition in the way of tire prices. Prices of Biltwell tires will average 60 per cent less than most automobile tires sold today.

NEW REPAIR SHOP FOR AUTO OWNERS

Pioneer Auto Body, Fender Concern, South Brand Ready for Business

Glendale now has another automobile auto body and repair shop which started in business recently. The Pioneer Auto Body & Fender shop, 220 South Brand boulevard, in the High School alley, makes its bow to Glendale auto owners.

This plant is managed by Ray W. Hirzel and George R. Parplee, who are both veteran fender and body repair men. Mr. Hirzel came to Glendale over four years ago and started the first business of this kind in the city at 108 West Colorado boulevard. Mr. Tarplee has been a resident of Glendale for two years.

The new firm, knowing local conditions as it does, anticipates a good, steady growth in this special work. "As the city enlarges, which it is bound to do," states Mr. Hirzel, "the number of automobiles increases, and there must be shops here to take care of the business."

SAYS CHRYSLER SIX GETS BETTER

First Car Delivered Here Is Clicking Off Mileage; Fuel Mark Low

The first Chrysler Six that was delivered in the Glendale territory is running better today than it has ever done, according to a statement made by the owner, W. A. Keen, 1446 Thompson street, who declares in a letter to Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, that the Chrysler comes nearer to perfection than any other car he has ever driven in all the years of his experience.

After his return recently from a trip to Phœnix, Ariz., Mr. Keen stated that the car, driven 18,000 miles since he bought it, had averaged twenty-one miles to the gallon of gasoline and that, on the last 2000 miles he had driven it, he had not added either oil or water.

"I have never had the head off the motor since I bought the car, never had the valves ground, nor have I spent one cent on repair bills," he writes to Mr. Clark. On his return trip from Phœnix Mr. Keen states that he covered 522 miles in thirteen hours and fifty-five minutes, and that he is more charmed with the car's performance and freedom from mechanical troubles than ever.

"The freedom from mechanical imperfections that Mr. Keen praises," says Mr. Clark, "is one of the best features of the Chrysler Six. The car is tuned up and ready to run when it is taken off the showroom floor, and the driver has nothing to worry about when he is behind the wheel of the Chrysler."

SHOW NEW COACH FOR FIRST TIME

Addition To Cadillac Line Is Praised By Public; Plenty Of Room

The new Cadillac coach, built on the standard V-63 chassis, was displayed to the public for the first time at the New York automobile show, states William Court of Court Motor Co., 901 South Brand boulevard. This beautiful new body, which was developed by Cadillac and Fisher engineers, possesses ample seating capacity for five, is well proportioned, low, graceful and beautifully finished. It is a car of great utility and unusual value.

"The Cadillac Motor Car Co., in designing this striking new body style, has left nothing undone to make it one of the outstanding features of the Cadillac line in 1925," he says. "The coach is finished in Cadillac Duco green, relieved by an appropriate stripe. The large plate-glass windows, which lower or raise with ease, combined with the one-piece ventilating windshield, makes the coach as light and airy as an open model.

"The wide flush doors afford easy access to the roomy interior, which is trimmed in taupe mohair plush with carpet to match. The individual folding front seats are models of comfort, and the rear seat, which has a width of 50½ inches, possesses ample room for three passengers."

AUTO PAINT FIRM SEES GOOD TRADE

Out-Of-Town Business Much Better And Growing Arbenz Reports

"Out of town business is getting much better," said C. H. Arbenz of the Gene Morris One Day Auto Painting System, 747 South San Fernando road.

According to Mr. Arbenz the new Moco finish which only recently has been introduced in Glendale has been steadily gaining in favor. He said:

"Moco is a finish for an auto that I personally guarantee as being extremely satisfactory in every respect, it is a finish that remains practically unchanged and no perceptible difference can be seen after a full year of driving, it is especially adaptable to the ravages of all weather conditions."

Mr. Arbenz is operating his shop on the same full time basis as last fall, the same number of workmen being used.

NEW PAIGE READY ALSO JEWETT CAR

D. R. Tomkins, Local Dealer, Says Detroit Factory Now Is Oversold

The new Paige, embracing distinctive advances in appearance and mechanical operation, is now on display at 217 West Colorado boulevard, announces D. R. Tompkins, Glendale distributor for the Paige and Jewett motor cars. New Jewett models also are on display in his showrooms.

The factory of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co. is oversold 6000 Paige cars, according to Mr. Tompkins, who declares that no model of this popular automobile has ever met with such instant and sweeping approval by the public.

The changes in the Paige and Jewett model are very decided, embodying many features naturally associated with foreign cars. The new Jewett crankshaft is thirty pounds heavier, Mr. Tompkins states, and is scientifically counter-balanced. Bearings are improved and lighter pistons are used, producing an engine practically free from vibration and capable of sustained power under all conditions of the road.

Vocal and instrumental numbers will be given at the fourth Community Sing of the season, to be held in the Central Avenue schoolhouse at 8 o'clock tonight, when Parent-Teacher organizations of the Columbus, Grand View and Central schools will be hosts with Glendale Community Service. Lunenschloss, with Mrs. Eva Jenkins whistling an obligato. Mrs. Jenkins will also give a whistling solo.

Two numbers will also be given by A. Lowinsky, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Lowinsky at the piano. J. A. Myers will lead the community singing, with Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb at the piano. Admission is free. Next week the sing will be held in the Harvard Junior High school auditorium.

new plant from 1 o'clock this afternoon until 8 o'clock tonight.

Of brick construction, the new building covers a ground area of 50 by 175 feet. Visitors today saw a most modernly equipped ice cream distributing plant. Serving Glendale and other cities of San Fernando valley and later Eagle Rock and Pasadena, and handling shipping business of the company for Chatsworth, Owensmouth, Oxnard and Santa Barbara, the new plant gives promise of being one of Glendale's industrial centers. Operation of the new plant will begin next week under the direction of C. G. Hitchcock.

Glendalians who did not visit the plant this afternoon will be welcomed tonight, when the huge electric sign on the roof of the building will blaze forth the name "Christopher's" in 2500 electric light globes.

The principal address was delivered by Dr. James Hoffman Batten of Pomona college, on "Short Cuts and Short Circuits."

Father Leguyader of the Holy Trinity Catholic church has tendered his resignation, to take effect at once, and will return to France to spend an indefinite time with his mother, who is 84 years of age. Father Leguyader has been in charge of the work here for six years and leaves a host of friends. Arrangements have not yet been made for a successor.

The election for directors of the Sunset Canyon Country club resulted in returning W. J. Riley and A. R. Graham, the two Burbank candidates, to the board by heavy votes.

A feature of the election, at which 402 votes were cast, was the tie of R. F. Bostwick and L. A. Keller. Which of the two will be seated, will be determined by the directors by casting lots.

The Women's club held a regular meeting yesterday afternoon at the clubhouse. The Literary section met 10 o'clock in the morning, with Mrs. F. G. Taylor, 832 Magnolia avenue.

Motor Trucks Replace Horses for Hauling

tion, however, is only in its infancy.

"It is pretty hard to estimate requirements in the bus field but I doubt if a production of 10,000 buses this year would fill the demand. Whether ten thousand will be built or not, is another question. From the best estimates we have been able to compile, the bus requirements of the United States for the next ten years will approximate 300,000 vehicles. If this number is to be built, a start should be made now."

All the experts agree that store door delivery of freight is coming and that it must be handled with motor trucks, but they also agree that this is a thing which cannot be put into effect over night. It must be developed gradually as conditions warrant.

Provide Platforms

The use of trucks is having a marked effect on architecture in the business sections of cities. Merchants and manufacturers have begun to realize that it is impracticable to load and unload trucks from the street. Some have made alterations to allow construction of loading and unloading platforms within their own walls and few new business edifices are going up which are not equipped with some device by which delivery of goods can be accomplished without choking surrounding streets and courts.

Architects have seen the trouble engendered by small alleyways and courts where, perhaps a one horse laundry wagon may keep a score of trucks waiting in a busy street while the driver collects towels throughout a building. Plans now, therefore, usually include ramps for truck entry and exit to the basement of buildings.

Truck prices, according to manufacturers, are likely to remain fairly stable for the first part of the year. Rising cost of materials are operating against reductions and keen competition against advances.

compounding annual addition our company has in the past and will in future make very large expenditures for service lines and distributing stations. Our payrolls for construction work have been very large and as the territory served is comprised of both urban and agricultural areas, all growing rapidly, it is not anticipated that expenditures for service can be diminished in the future.

"Our program for local sytsem reinforcement for this year includes the enlargement of the capacity of many of the main feeder lines and also extensions where needed. A thorough survey was made this Fall of station facilities and we determined that during 1925 additional capacity would be required at the Burbank, San Fernando and Macneil stations.

Straight Facts

"Here are just a few straight-from-the-shoulder facts: the Southern California Edison Co. is truly a people's company, owned by the people, developing a people's project for the benefit of the citizens served. It will soon have completed the Florence lake tunnel, the longest water diversion bore of its capacity in the world, which diverts the waters of the upper San Joaquin river forty-five miles from their course into Huntington and Shaver lakes 7,000 feet above sea level. The tunnel is fifteen feet in diameter, thirteen and one-half miles in length, and driven through the solid granite of Kaiser mountain. This is a gigantic undertaking, involving superlative engineering and economic skill, yet the management of the company will have completed this splendid asset to Southern California's power resources without entailing one iota of expense to Southern California Edison consumers, all such money having been derived from new capital investments in sales of stocks and bonds, as a matter of actual fact rates have been twice reduced during the interval of its construction.

"To sustain the millions who will ultimately reside in Southern California, power, industries, and payrolls are of supreme concern, and the obligation to promote the successful development of economic power is a real duty of citizenship.

"Acting in accord with this thought the Southern California Edison Co. executive officers and engineers have planned and put into successful operation the first 220,000 volt transmission line extant. To meet the emergency produced by the succession of exceptionally dry years and the resultant loss in water power a 100,000 horsepower steam plant was erected and put in operation within 9 months. These major projects have all been brought to fruition at a time when rapid growth was taxing the company's personnel to the limit; its consumers, connected load in horsepower and power supplied having trebled in five years.

A COUGH REMEDY WITHOUT OPIATES

Many cough preparations contain some one or more harmful drugs which are added to take the place of opiates. None of these narcotic substitutes have ever been used in FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND. The name of every ingredient is plainly printed on every carton. You know what you are taking when you take Foley's. It clings to the throat. Good for old and young. You have a cough, why not try it. Refuse substitutes.

SMITH TELLS WHY OF TIRE CREDITS

Same Policy Followed as Is Common In Payments For Your Auto

The policy of granting a payment plan in the selling of automobiles has been the reason why Irwin Smith of the Smith Tire Co., 239 South Brand boulevard, has instituted a special feature of selling auto tires on liberal credit. Mr. Smith said:

"If automobiles sell on time, why is it not a good policy to sell tires on payments?"

Most automobile owners welcome the opportunity of always having good rubber on their machines at all times, they feel it is good economy to know that their tires are in good shape, thus avoiding delays caused by blowouts, etc., and with liberal credit and the added feature that tires bought this way do not cost any more than if they were purchased for cash should appeal to every one who drives a car.

The famous Viking tires are handled by the Smith Tire Co. They have made a name for themselves all over southern California as the hardy tire. Mr. Smith claims that they contain more materials, weigh more than the ordinary tire.

SULPHUR CLEARS SKIN RIGHT UP

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advertisement.

THIS CLUB SEDAN PRICE A SURPRISE TO THOUSANDS

The chief comment heard regarding this Club Sedan is that a Hupmobile closed car at such a price was never thought possible.

Hupmobile—finely built, reliable, long-lived, brilliant in performance, low in upkeep costs—is a car which thousands have desired to own.

This Club Sedan enables these thousands to enjoy closed car comfort plus Hupmobile's superior mechanism, at little more than open car cost.

This Club Sedan affords plenty of leg room. It has doors front and rear, regular sedan width.

It is finished in Duco blue or beige, with nickel radiator and cowl lamps. There is an unusually large trunk in rear. Balloon tires and natural wood or disc wheels are optional at nominal extra cost.

COURTESY IN SENATE IS SLIPPING

'Congressional Record' Now Contains Light Snappy Reports Of Speeches

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Where is the senatorial courtesy of yesteryear? There is about as much left of it as there would be at a meeting of a lot of strange bull dogs. Courtesy has been replaced by curtness and consideration has given way to condemnation. Senators rise in their places these days and talk about each other and at each other in a manner which some of the old folks say is reminiscent of a gathering of fish wives.

It is all a reminder of the pleasant times that are to be had here in Washington between now and the 4th of March. The temper of the Senate is such that it is small wonder President Coolidge does not want an extra session of the body on his hands all summer. The president thinks the country needs a rest. He knows he does.

Whether it be regarded as a sad commentary or not, it is nevertheless true that senatorial debate lately has degenerated into little more than the rudest sort of personalities, with bitter invective poured over the whole as an added touch of ill temper. The good natured and high minded arguments of old seem to be a part of the days that are gone forever. Of course there was a time in the past when two distinguished senators from South Carolina drew knives and started at each other on the Senate floor, but that was just a belated echo of the one time cherished code duello. Nowadays the senators just get up and call each other names.

Norris Mixes In

The Senate debates of the past few days have been typical of the new spirit among the elder statesmen. Senator Bruce, of Maryland, for instance, says that some of his Democratic colleagues are trying to "bait" him and he casually refers to them by inference as a "lot of little dogs," mentioning in particular "Tray" and "Blanche and Sweetheart." Since then there has been much speculation in the galleries as to which senator was "Tray" and which "Sweetheart."

Senator Norris, of Nebraska, who has undertaken the role of stormy petrel on the Republican side recently and has had many unkind things to say about the administration and its dictum of "party regularity," has not spared the feelings of his colleagues. He has been particularly harsh with the "lame ducks" and has accused them by name of lining up before the "piecounter" intent upon getting a "soft job" for their declining years by doing the bidding of the administration rather than to follow the guidance of their own convictions. Senator Norris has tauntingly referred to "the ancient and barbaric theory that a senator should vote his convictions."

Times Have Changed

"We, as regulars," snarled the senator from Nebraska, "know it is the duty of the party man not to think but to obey, and now comes the voice of our party leader demanding obedience."

Twice during the past week senators literally were driven from the floor, Senator Edge, of New Jersey fleeing before a storm of questions as to his conception of "party regularity," and Senator Dial, of South Carolina, who started out to amend a recent speech taking his own party to task, being led at last under fire to withdraw the entire speech.

In the old days when a senator got beat in the primaries or at the election everyone was considerate of his injured feelings. Today it is the senatorial pastime to rub salt into the wounds, to refer to the defeated gentleman as "sore heads" and job hunters. Not only that but some senators have gone so far as to predict that certain of their brothers will join the "lame duck" colony two years from now. If anyone nowadays wants real light, snappy and peppy reading let him subscribe to the Congressional record, once so sombre and dead.

School Survey Shows Need for More Schools and that we should lay out a program for the future.

2. We recommend that bonds be voted so that the program laid out can be carried on without having the regular school work handicapped by the congestion which preceded the last expansion.

3. Bonds will be sold only as needed.

4. It is our policy to use the Harvard High for school purposes as long as it is needed. Its use will be necessary during the next two and one-half years while the school in the Northwest is under construction and after that time, if the rate of increase continues as estimated, it will be necessary to still retain it for school purposes.

Condemn Sites

5. We believe that the sites to be purchased with these bonds will be sufficient to take care of the school needs for many years.

6. The building estimates have been given us by a responsible architect.

7. We will use the legal process for condemnation rather than pay unreasonable and exorbitant prices for land to be used for sites.

8. We do not heistate to say that we believe this program is absolutely necessary and, as such, we recommend it for the indorsement and support of the patrons of the district.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

You have seen children at Christmas time forget a whole closet-ful of old toys for the new gift, be it ever so simple. The new toy is a joy to the youngster. So is the new town to a stranger.

That psychology accounts for the lure of Glendale, the writer believes. It is a new and modern city, spick and span in every particular, and its constant improvement makes it a most interesting community in which to live.

People are attracted by that which is new. And it is one devil of a job keeping the newness from wearing off, by the way. Glendale wants to be on guard that no "shacks" are built, that its progress is permanent, and all will be well in the decades to come.

Coming into this city from the northern coast and inland routes Burbank and Glendale are the first densely populated cities of the southern California metropolitan area, although Los Angeles' city limits extend some thirty miles farther out.

And, as a suggestion, it would be quite proper for Los Angeles to remove those signs because they give strangers the belief that Burbank and Glendale are a part of Los Angeles city.

There was a day when the writer used to visit Burbank and was impressed by the country crossroads appearance of the village. Not so, today. To see the hundreds of homes situated on the Verdugo hillsides is an inspiration.

One cannot tell where Burbank ends and Glendale begins, so closely populated has the northwest section of this city become.

But you have a good guess that you are in Glendale because San Fernando road—the King's highway of olden days—is the roughest stretch between Los Angeles and San Francisco, with few exceptions.

And you do see a motor cop patrolling that infernally rough road over which no one would care to go fast, unless it were with the idea of getting away from the bumps as soon as possible.

San Fernando road should be a broad paved thoroughfare—an advertisement for Glendale, and not a black eye.

Paving might be some inducement for property owners to improve the vacant land, also, immediately fronting the great traffic artery.

OAKLAND FILLING POPULAR DEMAND

Stands Eighth In Number of Automobiles Registered In United States

Among all makes of motor cars registered in the United States the Oakland ranks eighth on the list, according to figures compiled by the Oakland Motor Car Co., from records gathered by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

"The Oakland has earned its position among the most popular makes of motor cars on the basis of proven performance and established value," says John Neuschaefer, of 420 East Colorado street, Glendale dealer for the Oakland.

"There are only two makes of six-cylinder cars that exceed the Oakland in number of motor cars registered in the United States, which, in itself, is a very reasonable showing considering the many popular makes of six-cylinder cars which are instantly called to mind.

Light Six Favored

"Oakland started making six-cylinder cars in 1916, and the fore-runner of the present vogue in light sixes was designed and built by Oakland. There is no question about the success of the light six. The fact that two of the building of sixes, which take front rank in registration numbers, built light sixes as evidence that this size car fills a very popular demand.

"On analysis the light six gives all that a more expensive car gives except dignity and pride of possession. If a person is concerned about what his neighbor thinks in so far as financial standing is represented, he aims to own a car that will give the impression that he has lots of money. In other words, he either aspires to the moneyed class or he is in it. For the man who considers only the element of satisfactory economical transportation there is nothing to interest him in a big car. The compact, easy-riding, Oakland six offers all that anyone could ask in the line of dependable transportation."

LOS ANGELES

For Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—The new city traffic ordinances, including the one prohibiting jaywalking, are a "perfect success." In other words they are accomplishing that for which they were designed, the speeding up of traffic. This is according to Deputy Police Chief Cleveland Heath in charge of the traffic detail. Several jaywalkers were arrested yesterday and released on bond.

Bystanders received a thrill when a man leaped from a blazing coupe at First and Savannah streets. Without attempting to save the machine he snatched a large can and fled. According to firemen and police who extinguished the blaze after a hard fight, the car contained several five gallon cans of alcohol. The driver saved five gallons before he abandoned his car.

Corporation Commissioner Daugherty has refused permission to officers of the $10,000,000 Latin-American Fruit and Steamship corporation, organized under the laws of Delaware, to sell $2,000,000 of the stock in California.

Col. James A. Mattison, head surgeon and governor of the Sawtelle soldiers' home, has asked the police to search for an impostor who is forging his name on checks collected under false pretenses. A man representing himself as "Sergeant Ray," police state, is canvassing Los Angeles and surrounding cities soliciting magazine subscriptions to a fictitious publication and receiving checks made payable to Col. Mattison.

Two Shell Oil Co. filling stations were held up here by bandits who escaped with a total of $55.

Two men arrested by deputy sheriffs held in the county jail and a woman and two men were being sought for questioning in connection with a fire in Belvedere last week which did damage estimated at $25,000.

The transacting of official business was the outstanding feature today at sessions of the thirtieth annual convention of the diocese of Los Angeles, Episcopal church, being held here.

Percy L. Baldwin and his wife, Grace Baldwin were engaged in a suit for divorce but they were living in the same house today and communicating with each other by means of written notes, for under an order of Judge Gates they are not allowed to molest each other and Baldwin was ordered not to make his own coffee in the kitchen and not to steal his wife's jam.

A fight in an alley here ended in all four of the combatants being taken to the receiving hospital for treatment, according to police reports. Two of the participants were held in jail. The fight is said to have started when a policeman found two men attempting to molest a woman. A passing citizen joined the fight when he saw the officer was being badly beaten.

With Mrs. Jennie Norman and her husband, John Norman, and Pauline Kendorff, 15, under arrest, deputy sheriffs started to clear up the mystery surrounding an alleged plot to ambush and slay Edwin N. Ames, prominent Pasadena attorney. The attempt to end Ames' life is said to have been foiled when Frank A. Sullivan, who had been hired to do the work, reported the case to the officers.

NATIONAL CLUB IS AID TO MOTORIST

Nation-Wide Tow Service Helps Swell Number Of Membership

Nationwide tow and repair service, now a feature of the National Automobile club, has swelled its membership enormously, according to D. C. Bennett of 1707 South Brand boulevard, district manager, who said:

"This was the first club in the field to provide such emergency service, a service backed up by 400 official garages in California alone. Wherever there is a telephone there is a tow and repair car at the command of a member of the National Automobile club.

"This club is not in the insurance business, nor does it operate its own tow cars, believing in the policy of protection for legitimate business. Its official garages receive full retail rates for repair service. The club is a member of the Victory Highway association, an official information headquarters of the Lincoln highway, over which thousands of tourists are pouring into Southern California. The club, moreover, offers free tire change service, conducts a tourist bureau, issues a loose-leaf map system, and in many other ways makes motoring easier, all for a membership fee of $10 a year."

LEGION NOTES

The American Legion's organization for carrying out its national child welfare program is being rapidly extended into every community in the country, it was stated here today by Department Commander Nathan F. Coombs. Child welfare officers are now being appointed for the first time by every one of the 11,000 posts. This marks a further step in the legion's child welfare organization which has hitherto embraced national and department committees. The auxiliary and the Forty and Eight co-operate in this work. Post child welfare officers will, under the program outlined, contact all cases of orphans of veterans of the World war for the purpose of making sure that they are now being cared for and also of arranging care for them if they are not now receiving it. Every orphan of a veteran will be followed up until he reaches an age where he is capable of looking out for himself.

In response to inquiries, John A. Sinclair, chairman of the twelfth district rehabilitation committee of the American Legion announces that the gold star mothers are entitled to the federal adjusted compensation which their sons would have received if they had lived. In case the mother is deceased and the father is living, the father is entitled to compensation. Investigations reveal that many gold star mothers had failed to apply for the compensation through ignorance of the act's provisions. All applications should be made through the proper district headquarters of the United States Veterans bureau.

According to James K. Fisk, repartment adjutant of the American Legion, all indications point to a banner year for the Legion not alone in California but also, throughout the nation. Official figures show that for 1925, 3755 have paid up their membership dues as compared with 1891 for 1924. Prior to January 1, states Fisk, just five times as many paid-up memberships had been received for 1925 at national headquarters from the various departments as had ever been received in advance since the legion's organization. These forcast an unprecedented total for this year. At the end of 1924, 38,059 paid-up membership cards for 1925 were in the files at national headquarters. The greatest previous membership enrollment reported at national headquarters by January 1, was 7802 for the year 1923. To start the year of 1924 the legion had only 5134 paid-up memberships.

All cases of disabled World war veterans whose claims had been disallowed are now being reviewed by the veterans' bureau, at the suggestion of the American Legion, to see if they are entitled to further consideration under the Reed-Johnson law according to Walter Garrison, chairman of the legion's state rehabilitation committee. At the same time, the national rehabilitation committee of the legion which was largely instrumental in securing the passage of the bill, announces that more than 15,000 disabled veterans have already received $3,177,853 in increased benefits under this legislation. There has also been an increase under it of 4637 in the number of veterans receiving treatment from the veterans' bureau. To carry on the general review of cases disallowed under previous legislation Director Hines has set up a special section of the bureau.

Chiropractors Sell Interest In Los Angeles to Locate Here

Among the new additions to Glendale's business population, are Drs. Eugene and Clara Jane Brown, licensed chiropractic physicians and diet specialists, who were formerly instructors at the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic, and for several years practitioners in that city. In an interview with a representative of The Evening News, Dr. Brown said:

"We have traveled north, south, east and west in search of health, and—an ideal place in which to enjoy it. We found health at last through the methods we used in our work of healing, now we have found Glendale, and our quest is ended.

For some time we have been planning to sell our Los Angeles property and locate in Hollywood; by chance we passed through Glendale, about three months ago, and our convalescence from the 'Hollywood fever' has been rapid and complete. We have opened offices in the Security Bank building at Brand and Broadway, and expect to place our Los Angeles home on the market and build here during the coming year.

Sold On City

"When we saw your clean, broad streets, up-to-the-minute stores, attractive residential sections, beautiful schools and churches, sans slums, shacks, and sordidness; when we saw your encircling hills which make this a veritable giant's amphitheatre, plus just a little-better-bit of Southern California's matchless ozone, I said 'Here is where one should be able to really live. Me for Glendale'."

Dr. Brown plans to deliver a series of lectures in the near future, featuring the most modern and scientific methods of rejuvenation and rehabilitation.

PRAISES MISSIONARIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—In a remarkably frank discussion of the application of religion to affairs of the world, President Coolidge bluntly told the foreign missions convention of the United States and Canada yesterday that everything Christian civilization had carried into the "twilight places of the world" has been good and helpful.

Roses were more plentiful than ever in Bulgaria last season and this important crop of the country brought higher prices than before.

JAPS SET RECORD FOR SAVING CASH

Orientals Living Outside of Their Country Send Back Millions

TOKIO, Jan. 29.—Japanese living in foreign countries sent more money back to Japan in 1924 than ever before in the history of the nation, according to officials of the Yokohama Specie bank, through which a majority of the remittances are made.

The total amount received in Japan from Japanese in other countries during 1924 was approximately $16,900,000. The best previous year was 1919, when expatriated Japanese sent about $13,000,000 to the homeland.

America's Part

Of the amounts received this year, Japanese living in North America sent more than $10,000,000. Japanese in the British Empire sent $2,000,000; in Brazil $1,400,000; in Chile, $1,200,000; in Peru, $400,000; in Argentina, $75,000, while an additional $800,000 came from other parts of the world.

It will be seen by these figures that Japanese in North America—the United States, Canada and Mexico — sent approximately four times as much money back to their native land as did Japanese in the various parts of the British Empire, which stands second in the list, and more than twice as much as came from Japanese in all the South American countries.

Three hundred are in the Saugus district and 1,250 in the Santa Ynez. A band of thirty antelope ranges the forest. They are on the antelope game refuge near Antelope Valley in the Saugus district. Bears also are classified as game animals in the census. Thirty-seven are numbered in the entire forest.

U. S. To Spend $4.70 Per Car On Good Roads

The federal government will spend an average of $4.70 on good roads for each passenger car, truck and motor vehicle in the United States in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, according to figures received by the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The bureau of public roads states that exclusive of administrative costs, the government during the present fiscal year will spend over $10,000,000 more than was spent during the fiscal year ending June 30, last, when a total of $63,755,000 was paid out for highways. Southern California's share of this is expected to be in the neighborhood of two and a half million dollars.

Women's Tennis Team Plans Pasadena Meet

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Jan. 29.—With only thirty-eight people present at the meeting held Tuesday night in the Verdugo City auditorium, matters of interest to the taxpayers of the valley were discussed and voted on. A. B. Cochran, of Montrose, acted as chairman of the meeting at the request of Harry N. Fowler, who called the meeting.

Mr. Cochran gave a short resume of the meeting held two weeks ago in the school building. At the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Cochran asked Mr. Fowler to speak on school matters, to which Mr. Fowler replied:

"I have no children but I am for constructive, progressive work and take an active interest in the entire valley. In voting this bond issue I feel we should see that the money is carefully spent. We should have a voice in how it is spent."

A. H. Edwards of Amsterdam avenue made a motion to the effect that the board be requested to spend a portion of the $59,000 on a building west of Pennsylvania avenue for children in the first to the fourth grades. Dr. Karr suggested a petition be circulated before Thursday night to show the board how necessary the west district school was.

Mr. Fowler stated that he felt the people of Highway Highlands had been placed in an unfair light at the previous meeting, as they seemed at that time to be the only ones to be benefited by a school. "These people did not request the board to put the school in the Highway Highlands district, but in any suitable location west of Pennsylvania avenue," he added. Mr. Cochran read a resolution which stated the taxpayers requested the school board to spend a portion of the monies voted in the election for a suitable site west of Jennsylvania avenue. The tax issue for the past year, according to Mr. Fowler was $2,500,000 and the year before it was $1,652,400.

Mr. Fowler asked then that a copy of the resolution be read at tonight's meeting showing the sentiment of the taxpayers. A motion offered by Mr. Fowler to place two new members on the board, making five in all, passed.

Tonight at 8 o'clock there will be a mass meeting called by the board of the Crescenta school district to inform the people of the valley of their object in spending the monies voted in the coming bond election. This will be a meeting in which the board will welcome any suggestion as to how it should act for the benefit of the entire valley. Every one in the valley is requested to attend. The meeting will be held in the Crescenta school on Los Angeles avenue.

Saturday night the Angeles Forest Protective association of the La Crescenta valley will give the second of its popular dances at the Fowler auditorium. Foley's Sciots band of Glendale will furnish music, while members of the Women's club will assist in serving refreshments. Proceeds from the dance will go to the fund for equipment and housing to prepare the La Crescenta valley branch of the fire association for the coming months, when the fire hazard is, of course, the worst of the season. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Children to Entertain Fathers at Broadway

Fathers of Broadway school children are invited to attend the "Fathers' Night" affair tomorrow night at the school. The Parent-Teacher association has arranged the program, which will be presented at 8 o'clock by the children.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Jan. 29.—The Men's club of St. Barnabas Episcopal church announces that plans are complete for the entertainment tomorrow night at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse. A fine program is promised. Proceeds are to assist in furnishing the new church building. Tickets may be had from club members, or from local merchants.

One of the recent realty transactions is the purchase of a 170-acre ranch in the Pozo Valley, San Luis Obispo county, by Thomas B. McNary and Charles R. Soults of Eagle Rock. George W. Ohme, formerly of this section, was the seller.

A smooth-tongued egg salesman whose line of talk was a lot fresher than his line of goods, recently "put one over" on a number of local grocers, selling them cases of eggs that, on being opened, disclosed a top layer of storage eggs, a second layer of broken and stale eggs, and in the subsequent layers, merely air. The man gave his name as Z. Van Meer. Police are looking for him.

Col. H. B. Maxson of Ridge View avenue, has gone to Carson City, Nev., by request of the members of the state senate, who are now in legislative session at the Nevada capitol. The colonel has been in attendance at the last four sessions of the senate meetings in that state.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Daniels of Hill drive have left for a trip to the east, during which they will visit New York, Boston and several other cities. They will be absent about six weeks.

Miss Perle McCoy, of the Hollywood office, Los Angeles Power and Light department, has resumed her former duties after having been assigned temporarily to the Eagle Rock water department, while certain changes were being put into effect.

Miss Gladys Horn, who is the sister of Mrs. J. R. Cammack, has returned from a trip to Illinois, where she visited friends for two months.

PANAMA INDIANS FEEL FIRST SNOW

'White Tribe' Brought Here For Experimentation Return to Country

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—On the snow-covered decks of the liner Essequibo, just before she sailed for South America, two "white Indians" stood blinking and shivering. They were Marguerite, the elder, and her 13-year-old brother, Olo. They are of the San Blas Indians. It was the first snow these inhabitants of innermost Panama had ever seen.

The children, their parents, Chief Jim Barry and his wife, and several other members of their tribe are being taken back to their homes by R. O. Marsh, an explorer, who brought them here for scientific purposes last July.

Marsh said scientists are agreed that the children are not Albinos, but are the result of mutation. He added:

"The white race of today is an offspring of the brown peoples of 15,000 years ago."

Marsh said that he and Major Johnson of the Smithsonian Institute, who is accompanying him to the San Blas country, will continue their search into the history of the strange Indians.

The Wrath To Come

CHAPTER XXXIII

Grant was fully aware, on the afternoon before his return, that he had brought his mission to a most successful conclusion. The English Press was receiving the American attacks upon Lord Yeovil and his invitation with good-humored magnanimity. He had collected more evidence—evidence of a very sinister nature—as to the brooding air of unrest which everywhere prevailed, and, in view of certain contingencies, firmly fixed in his own mind but only half believed in by other people, he had obtained pledges of the utmost value and importance. Yet, so far as he personally was concerned, he felt very strongly that his visit had been a faliure. The more he thought of it, the more he became convinced that its failure had been inevitable, that his advertised delinquencies could have been looked upon in no other way. And yet he smarted under the judgment. The man in him rebelled.

In Bond Street that afternoon he heard his name pronounced by a woman alighting from a motor car just in front of him. He recognized her with some difficulty. It was indeed Gertrude, looking entirely her old self.

"Still in London," he remarked as he stood by her side for a moment.

"Still here," she assented. "I had orders to wait—to meet my husband."

"Your husband."

She smiled with faint irony.

"My husband. Are you surprised? He arrives today. He is quite excited at the idea of seeing me again."

"I can well believe it," Grant observed, a little bewildered.

"But you," she went on. "You have not the appearance of amusing yourself at all. You are worn to a shadow, my dear Grant. Why do you worry so about this little game of politics? Believe me, for all your efforts, the world will be very much the same in five or ten years' time."

"The philosophy of sloth," he reminded her, smiling.

"Perhaps so. But you seem, indeed, very miserable," she continued, studying him for a moment. "What is the matter? Are your love affairs progressing ill?"

"I have no love affair," he answered.

She looked at him for a moment searchingly, and her lips slowly parted. She laughed—laughed the more as his frown deepened.

"You poor man!" she exclaimed. "And after all your sacrifices! Perhaps it was not so much of a sacrifice, though," she went on, glancing unconsciously at her reflection in the plate-glass window of the shop in front of which they were standing. "I suppose I have gone off. What do you think, Grant?"

"You looked ill upon the steamer," he told her. "Today you look as well as you ever have done in your life."

"I hope I do," she murmured. "Otto would feel at once that he had been cheated out of something if I had lost my looks. I can never quite make up my mind," she went on reflectively, "how much of my appearance I owe to my clothes. "I have a wonderful flair for clothes, you know, Grant, and for wearing them."

"People have remarked upon it," he agreed a little drily.

She smiled.

"You're getting bored," she declared. "The trouble about me is that I'm so self-centered. I'm always talking about myself, and, of course, I ought to be sympathizing with you. But how can I, Grant? You fix your mind and affections upon an ingenue of the most British type and then nurse a broken heart because the inevitable happens."

He broke away from the subject.

"May I take it, then," he asked, "that you and your husband are reconciled?"

"We are about to be," she admitted. "It is very amusing. I made the first overtures, or rather Mr. Cornelius Blunn made them on my behalf. He pleaded my cause most eloquently. I have been given to understand that I am forgiven. My husband arrives today. We are staying at the Ritz. I think I will not ask you to call."

She saw the displeasure in his face. For a moment she faltered. She was gripping her little gold purse tightly with the fingers of her left hand.

"I seem to you flippant?" she went on. "Well!—you must make allowances for me. This is not exactly the happiest day of my life. I suppose really I should look for happiness in other ways—trying to do good and all that sort of thing. If I were to play the much admired part of long-suffering heroine in the cinema romance of life, I should, of course, put on my plainest clothes, wait mysteriously upon your ingenue, confess the whole truth to her at the cost of my own undying humiliation, and not leave her until I had shown her the truth. Then I should telephone you. You would leap into a taxi and drive to Yeovil House. I should take a last look at your photograph and an overdose of veronal. Curtain to slow music!"

Grant's feelings had suddenly changed. He realized the state of strain in which she was.

"You're talking a great deal of nonsense, Gertrude," he said. "I am glad to have seen you. I am glad to hear your news. If I may be allowed to say so, I do indeed wish you happiness. I wish that I could have had my share in bringing it to you."

He passed on a little abruptly, and Gertrude made her delayed entrance into the establishment where hovering satellites had been eagerly awaiting her. To Grant, the interview had been, in its way, a painful one. From a material point of view, Gertrude's reconciliation with her husband was certainly the best thing that could have happened to her. Yet, during the whole of their conversation, he had been conscious of an uneasy environment of misery. The meeting, notwithstanding a certain sense of relief which it brought him, had only increased his depression. He strolled on without any particular idea as to where he was going. At the corner of Bond Street and Piccadilly he heard a familiar voice and felt a friendly hand upon his shoulder.

"Why so woebegone, my young friend? You ought to be up in the seventh heaven to think of all the excitement you are causing."

Grant was suddenly down in the world of real things. He shook hands heartily with his new friend.

"Good morning, Admiral," he said. "Do I look as though I were indulging in a fit of blues?"

"If I hadn't been a brave man," Sullivan declared—"we're all brave in the navy!—I wouldn't have ventured to speak to you. Come along and lunch."

Grant hesitated. His companion took him by the arm.

THE GATEWAY

On the day he was elected Shepherd of the Lambs, the highest honor in the theatrical profession, Thomas Meighan spent the entire morning in jail. The charge against him was grand larceny, for, according to the thrilling plot of "Tongues of Flame," he had failed to account to his employers for $20,000 in gold entrusted to his care.

As a matter of fact, the jail was built on the back lot of Famous Players' Long Island Studio, and Tom could walk out of it any time Director Joseph Henabery gave the word. But some of his fellow Lambs would have had a good laugh if they could have seen their new shepherd languishing in the grilled fold.

Bessie Love and Eileen Percy are featured in support of Meighan in "Tongues of Flame" which will be shown Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Gateway Theatre.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Love Laughs" opened last night at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre for its second week in Glendale as a Dobinson Players' production. Mary Worth, the featured actress, again won deserved praise for her excellent work. Others in this well-selected cast are Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, Joseph McManus, William H. Stephens, Richard Ehlers, Eugenia Florence, Arthur Lovejoy and Harry J. Glazier. The play will continue throughout the week, the curtain rising nightly at 8:15 o'clock.

The author of "Love Laughs" is George D. Parker, and the play has a dual plot. A nerve specialist is besought by a lovesick bachelor to be pronounced sick, that he may be nursed back to health by the young woman of his fancy. The specialist agrees and a riotous series of situations develop. Many who have seen this comedy declare it is the best offering of the Dobinson Players, to date.

THE GLENDALE

THE T. D. & L.

"Frivolous Sal," with Eugene O'Brien and Mae Busch, concludes today at the T. D. & L. Theatre. Friday and Saturday the picture is "Excuse Me," by Rupert Hughes.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE ACORN PIE

Once upon a time Mr. Bushytail, the squirrel daddy of Johnnie and Billie, became ill, and Dr. Possum, after looking at his tongue, said:

"What he needs is some acorn pie!"

"Acorn pie!" chattered the squirrel lady. "Well, we have plenty of acorns stored away, but I would think chestnuts might be better."

"An acorn pie is the only thing to make Mr. Bushytail get well," said Dr. Possum, hanging his bag of powders and pills on his tail, where he always carried it.

"I'll make him one at once," said Mrs. Bushytail.

But when the squirrel lady started to roll out the pie crust, before putting in the hard, round, brown acorn nuts off the oak tree, before she could do this, Mr. Bushytail felt so ill that his wife had to sit beside him, as he lay on the bed of leaves in the nest house.

"And how I am going to make the acorn pie and sit here by him, I don't see!" sighed the worried squirrel lady.

"Mother," whispered Johnnie, "I know how we could get the pie made for daddy."

"How?" asked Mrs. Bushytail.

"Billie and I can take the acorns over to Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow," went on Johnnie. "Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy will make the pie, and we'll bring it home to daddy."

"That's a fine idea!" chattered the squirrel lady. "I'll get the acorns for you."

Their pockets filled with acorns, Johnnie and Billie were soon hopping over the fields and through the woods to the hollow stump bungalow where Uncle Wiggily lived. Mr. Longears was just taking off his shoes, to put on his rubber boots, so he might go out adventuring, when in popped the squirrel boys.

"Oh! will you make daddy an acorn pie?" begged Johnnie.

"Of course I will," answered Nurse Jane. Then the two squirrel chaps took the acorns out of their pockets and the muskrat lady began to make the pie. Until, all of a sudden, they heard Uncle Wiggily shout, and, going in his room, they found him dancing around on one paw, and that paw was down in his rubber boot.

"What's the matter?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Oh, there's something in my boot! Something that hurts my paw! It feels as if I were stepping on a lot of marbles!" cried the bunny. And when he took off his boot—inside it were some acorns that had bounced out of the squirrel boys' pockets.

Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I didn't know what was the matter. Acorns in my boot! Ha! Ha! But don't you need these for the pie, Nurse Jane?" he asked, shaking out the brown nuts.

"Bless your pink, twinkling nose, no, indeed!" said Nurse Jane. "Johnnie and Billie brought over enough acorns for six pies. I'll make two. Better stay in and have a piece, Uncle Wiggily."

So the bunny thought he would. He couldn't eat hard, raw acorns, his teeth not being like those of a squirrel. But once the acorns were chopped up soft and baked in a pie, he could eat them.

Well, Nurse Jane was making the pie, and there were a lot of acorns left over, which Johnnie and Billie were playing with on the floor, when, all of a sudden, into the bungalow popped the Weasel.

"I want Uncle Wiggily!" snarled the Weasel.

"Throw acorns at him! Throw acorns at the Weasel!" chattered Billie. And he and his brother threw so many of the hard, brown nuts at the bad chap, hitting him on his nose, that the Weasel turned and ran away as fast as he could run.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. 'It's a good thing you made the acorn pie, Nurse Jane." And when Mr. Bushytail ate some he grew well at once. So this teaches us that it is a good thing to know how to cook. And if the glass of water doesn't catch cold and turn into an icicle when it gets locked out in the garage all night, I'll tell next about Uncle Wiggiiy's buttonhook.

FORTUNE DEPENDS ON BEING BRITISH

Million Left to German If He Be Naturalized English Subject

LONDON, Jan. 29.—If Dr. Max Waechter, of Berlin, renounces German citizenship and becomes a naturalized British subject, eventually he will receive an inheritance of $1,500,000.

That's the curious provision inserted in the will of Sir Max Leonard Waechter, a London and Liverpool merchant and uncle of the German doctor, who died recently.

Sir Max's widow will have the use of his fortune of $2,000,000 during her lifetime, after which it will be split, one-half going to Sir Max's son, the other half to the nephew, "provided that, within five years of the testator's widow he shall give notice of his intention to leave Germany and establish himself in the British Empire and become a naturalized British subject."

If Dr. Waechter and his children refuse to comply with the terms of the will the fortune will be distributed to various charities.

Sir Max was himself a native German, but became a naturalized British subject in 1865 and was knighted in 1902.

Oldtime City Building Has Housed Everything

MARSHALL, Mich., Jan. 29.—The sale of the Eagle Block, one of Marshall's historical buildings, discloses the block has housed more enterprises than any other in the United States.

Since it was built, it has been the home of a bank, bakery, barber shop, cigar store, county offices, courtroom, circuit court judges' office, drug store, dry goods, furniture, groceries, hotel, insurance offices, ice cream parlor, law offices, opera house, poolroom, printing office, public hall, real estate office, restaurant, rooming apartment, shoe store, saloon and undertaking room. The building is three stories high.

Lone Bandit Gets Gems Worth $20,000 In Job

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Jan. 29.—An unmasked bandit robbed the jewelry store of I. Potech of about $20,000 worth of gems and $46 in money, after holding up Potech with two revolvers and compelling him to unlock the safe.

After making a careful selection from the stock of jewelry, the gunman warned the proprietor against making any outcry and backed out a rear door, while he kept Potech covered with the revolvers.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. When her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Advertisement.

Baroness to Wed Again

BARONESS DE STYRCOA, Viennese beauty who has been married several times, is to become the bride of the Duke of Westminster, conceded to be England's richest peer. The duke claims he is poor. It will be his third marriage.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The Duke of Westminster, long known as England's richest peer, says he is poor. Nevertheless, he is going to marry again. His next wife is to be the much wedded Baroness de Styrcoa, internationally famous Viennese beauty, Mayfair hears.

The wedding cannot take place until the divorce suit of the duke and his present wife is settled.

The baroness' shoulder and back are scarred by acid hurled by one jealous wife.

Her first husband was Alfred Piccaver, Philadelphia-born singer. After her divorce from him, she used to enjoy sitting in a front box at the opera just to see his discomfort at her being there.

Her second husband was a Budapest man. She soon divorced him to wed the wealthy Roumanian, Baron Styrcoa.

Two women now bear the title of Duchess of Westminster, neither having remarried since their divorce from the duke. Baroness Styrcoa will make it three.

Novelty Water System Gravitates Under Lake

WHITEHALL, Jan. 29.—Whitehall's new gravity water supply system was put in operation recently and furnishes the city with an unlimited supply of water from the Adirondacks. One of the novel features of the construction is that the pipe line running from the original dam in the mountains to the reservoir in this city crosses South Bay, of Lake George, on the lake bottom. Laying the pipe on the lake bed was not so difficult as it sounds.

The pipes were laid from a scow onto a wooden crib, and when the full length was finished, is was simply dropped overboard.

Oyster Shows Mass of 500 Pearls Under Shell

TAMPA, Jan. 29.—The most remarkable freak of nature ever seen in Apalachicola was revealed at the Gulf Beach Packing Co.'s plant when a shucker opened an oyster that was a solid mass of pearls, ranging from the size of a pin head to a cow-pea.

The pearls are colored black, brown, cream and snow white, and are embedded clear through the body of the oyster.

The oyster is a nice size and contains perhaps 500 pearls. Only the great muscle, gills and mantle of the oyster are free from pearls.

Alps Greeting To Motorists Is Good Slogan

Motorists in this section might profit by the slogan in general use in the Alps mountains, according to a member of the Automobile Club of Southern California who just returned from a motor tour abroad. The tourist stated that throughout Bavaria they have one word which greets the motorist on every side. This is, "Zeitlassen," which in plain American means "take your time."

This member of the automobile club suggests that a good slogan for Southern California drivers would be, "Take Your time."

Lawyer Would Enjoin Vets Bureau In Work

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—On the eve of payment of more than $750,000,000 in bonus certificates to World War veterans, Benjamin Catchings, New York lawyer, and thirty other New Yorkers have petitioned Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy, of the District Supreme court, to enjoin the United States Veterans' bureau from administering the federal bonus act. The petitioners charged that, in the payment of the bonus, taxpayers' money is being misused.

Catchings filed a similar suit in the local courts several months ago, but it was dismissed.

Tokio Claims Highest Living Cost In World

TOKIO, Jan. 29.—Living costs are higher in Tokio than in any other city in the world, according to Jiji Shimpo, one of the leading Tokio newspapers, which made a survey of the situation. According to the Jiji's calculations, living costs in Tokio are now 120 per cent above the pre-war level. London comes next with 70 per cent and New York is third on the list with 50 per cent. The fact that Japan is forced to import commodities far in excess of the volume of her exports, the Jiji concludes, is chiefly responsible for the high cost of living here.

Fricandeau Suggested By French Good Hash

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Fricandeau montagnard is a new way of making a good hash dish.

Choose a pound of good pork and remove all the bones. Use with it four-fifths pound of pork liver, with all hard ligaments removed. Chop into very fine pieces; add salt, pepper, a little parsley and thyme leaves. Form the hash into a large pattie and envelop in a thick caul. Cook an hour in a warm oven, pressing from time to time with a fork. Let cool and remove from the caul. This fricandeau is always served with a green salad.

Monument to Scott Is In Need of Repairs

EDINBURGH, Jan. 29.—The imposing monument to Sir Walter Scott, in Princes street, considered to be one of the finest and most famous monuments in the world, is declared by experts to be unsafe in its highest parts.

Due to the fact that repairs would cost thousands of dollars, the town council has decided to close the highest parts to the public permanently.

More Americans Flock To Japan Than Others

TOKIO, Jan. 29.—Except for Chinese, there are more Americans in Tokio than any other foreign element, according to statistics of the Foreign Affairs section of the Metropolitan Police board.

All told, there are more than 6,000 foreigners in the Japanese capital. Chinese number 3,700. Next in the list are Americans, numbering 630; the British, with 450; Russia, with 350, and Germany, with 300. There are only 120 Frenchmen in Tokio, and the Swedes and the Swiss are at the bottom of the list, with thirty-seven and thirty-five respectively.

The foreign population of Tokio has more than doubled in the last six months, the police declare. In June it was estimated there were less than 3,000 citizens of foreign countries in the city. The increase is attributed to the fact that many aliens who fled the city at the time of the earthquake now are returning; also, many foreigners are coming because of business conditions incident to the reconstruction of the city.

Prince of Wales May Wed on Argentine Trip

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Will the Prince of Wales meet his matrimonial fate during his visit to the Argentine next summer? This question is being asked all over Great Britain. Two important facts give rise to the query. The first is that the prince is now regarded everywhere in England as a confirmed bachelor. "Why should I not be the first unmarried king of Britain?" is the remark that he is said to have made frequently to his intimate friends. The second is that never before has an heir to the throne attained the age of thirty and remained single.

"Does he want to become king?" is the question that English society people are continually asking. "Would he rather renounce his rights and allow the Duke of York to succeed?" is the interrogation which usually follows.

Death Bed Design on Portugal's New Stamp

LISBON, Jan. 29.—Battle, shipwreck and a lonely death-bed are the subjects of designs in the new series of stamps just issued by Portugal to commemorate the four hundredth anniversary of the great poet-explorer, Luis de Camoens.

On the new stamps Camoens is shown in battle against the Arabs; swimming for his life after a shipwreck, holding the manuscript of his famous poem, "The Lusiad," above his head to protect it from the waves, as a warrior in full armour; and in his last moments, attended by a negro slave. Other stamps show the title page of the first edition of "The Lusiad," the grave of the poet, and a monument to his memory.

Adventists Lay Plans For Work In Future

Assignments for future work were made and plans relative to work of Seventh-day Adventists churches in Southern California discussed at a meeting held in the Lincoln Park church, Los Angeles, Monday. Ministers and other workers of the Southern California conference attended the meeting. Among the recommendations made were: That Elder R. W. Parmele continue as pastor of the Glendale church; that Elder McComas hold an evangelistic effort in the church at Eagle Rock; that Professor Ochs and Dr. Hare alternate in conducting Sabbath meetings in Burbank and Pasadena.

J. C. SHERER GIVES BOND ISSUE VIEWS

Pioneer Resident Points Out Necessity Of Economy; Issues Warning Relative To Steadily Increasing Debts

J. C. Sherer, city treasurer, and a pioneer resident of Glendale, prominent in the upbuilding of the community since 1880, sent the following communication to The Glendale Evening News. His letter deals with bond issues and he promises to have further thoughts to express on the subject.

Editor, The Evening News:—

Feeling quite sure that you agree with me that action should not be taken on important questions without the matter having been considered from the viewpoint of both sides, I ask that you give this communication space in The Evening News.

The greatest material need of today is a return to the practice of economy in private and public affairs. This fact has been emphasized by the president of the United States and the governor of our own state, but has not been given the attention by the public press which its great importance deserves; on the contrary, it is rarely that a voice is raised or an article published that would have a tendency to encourage the practice of this old-fashioned virtue. The favorite pastime of the present up-to-date community, particularly in California, is boosting and bond issues.

Favorite Bond Issue

We are buying with the utmost recklessness everything that pleases our passing fancy, provided that we can buy it on time, and our laws are framed for the express purpose of making this easy. Our favorite bond issue is the one running for a period of forty years, this period of time being happily calculated so that those of us who have passed the greater number of life's happy milestones, may bequeath to posterity something by which we may be remembered. We have been voting these long-term bonds for a good many years; what our per capita debt now amounts to I am unable to state, but I hope to secure and make use of this information in the near future. The matter is somewhat complicated, because we are bonded to the state, the county, the municipality, the school district and the improvement district, to say nothing of our share of the national debt.

Disaster to Result

Does any sane person think that it is possible to continue to keep this thing up indefinitely and ever catch up on our indebtedness? Shall we continue on a course that is bound some time to result in disaster, or have we wisdom enough to enable us to begin at once to pay as we go for at least a portion of what we buy? In brief, is it not time that we stopped issuing bonds for things that are not strictly necessities? Remember that the absolutely necessary things are coming along fast enough. The county of Los Angeles voted $35,000,000 a year or two ago for flood control and water conservation, and this is only the initial sum that is going to be demanded in the near future to meet an imperative need.

Issue Before City

Our own city will soon be called on for bond issues for things that are absolutely necessary. Shall we fritter our credit away by issuing forty-year bonds to buy things that are not a necessity, whether in the sacred name of education or even religion? We are told that the proposed $2,400,000 bond issue for schools will add only a few cents to our taxes yearly. By this specious argument we have piled up our present indebtedness a few cents on the dollar every year. Look at it in another way: Estimating the population of Glendale at 50,000, the proposed issue represents an addition to the indebtedness of every man, woman and child in Glendale of $40 per capita.

Makes Estimate

Consider that, say, one-tenth of this population are property owners, that minority that pays the bill; it means an addition to the indebtedness of the average holder of real estate of $400. I am not overlooking the fact that there is territory outside of Glendale that is included in the school districts, but the excess of a few hundred thousand dollars asked for will take care of that, so that the estimate is perfectly fair. By no flight of fancy can any sane, unprejudiced person declare this proposed issue to be a NECESSARY one in its entirety, which is the form in which it is presented.

There are a number of specific arguments against the proposition which I will reserve. The above should furnish food for thought. J. C. SHERER.

Counterfeit Business Now Almost Lost Art

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—Counterfeiting is now almost a lost art, Captain William H. Houghton, chief of the U. S. Secret Service, said in commenting upon the scarcity of "queer" money being pushed across store counters during the Christmas holiday rush. Only two complaints were made he stated, and they concerned counterfeit notes for small amounts.

He said the absence of well-known counterfeiters and money-raisers was the reason for the scarcity of spurious coin. Hundreds of complaints to the Secret Service bureau were reported in former years. The absence of money-raisers was due to their presence in various Federal penitentiaries.

RADIO SHOES ARE NEW FRENCH HOPE

Scientist Claims Discovery Of Radium Process to Abolish Tired Feet

By ALICE LANGELIER

For International News Service.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—The plaids have even invaded the shoe department. Plaid shoes are appearing at the Paris bottiers, and the first samples are distinctly charming.

The plaid effect is applied in the form of stitching in one case and of leather weaving in another. One pair of smoke-gray suede, one-strap pumps are checked with plaid stitching of green, red and blue thread. The plaid is used diagonally in making the shoe, so that it forms lozenge shapes over the toe and continues a diagonal course about the foot. Another pair also uses the diagonal of the plaid, which is created by narrow strips of red and green colored leather, woven in and out of small slits cut in the dark-brown leather of the shoe.

Dancing until the wee small hours of the morning will become child's play if the discovery of an Italian scientist can be perfected and put to practical purposes. Tapparelli has just discovered that leather can be made radio-active by impregnating it, with a solution of salts of radium.

Radio Shoes

French bootmakers think that radio-active shoes probably will be in kid next spring and brown kid at that, since it is the most fashionable color of the season. One of the designers is making a model in two shades of brown—a light shade for the main part of the shoe and a darker one for the remainder. There is an oblong tab which, with the straps attached to the upper corners, serves the purpose of buckles.

Grey kid, with a touch of red, promises to be very popular for spring models. One pair, in light gray, has narrow straps and little winglets like Mercury's, in red kid, at the sides. Navy blue kid, trimmed with red, is another combination for future wearing. Many smart women continue faithful to black, but bright colors trim all dull slippers.

Quite the newest crink in the shoe world is the mah jongg shoe, a very simple black kid one, with the characteristic mah jongg figures, in white kid, stitched onto the outer side and flanked by lines of white.

Military Training Rule In Japan Is Opposed

TOKIO, Jan. 29.—Authorization by the department of education of universal military training in the schools and colleges of Japan has met with great opposition recently all over the country.

It has become an issue, and public men are opposing it. It is thought a change in the department's ruling will be made before April; otherwise it will then go into effect.

Japan's Quake Brought Whales Back, Is Claim

TOKIO, Jan. 29.—Japan's greatest disaster, the earthquake and fire of September, 1923, brought whales back to Tokio bay. No whales had been seen in the bay for more than thirty years, but the earthquake is said to have so altered the sea bottom of the bay that the "leviathans of the deep" are again finding it a pleasant place to visit.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—A capital stock issue of $500,000 has been announced by the Western Costume Co. of Los Angeles to finance an enlargement of their plant facilities to meet the increased demands of motion picture producers and cities and institutions requiring uniforms.

Refined sugar markets on the seaboard and at consignment points have become unsettled because of the outbreak of an Eastern price war and the mantle of secrecy under which some of the refiners are carrying on their operations, according to the wires of E. F. Hutton & Co. today. Cuba, however, still below the parity of most of the world's sugar producers from a price standpoint, is still enjoying as a result unabated demand from foreign buyers.

The New York News bureau says that $2.50 oil by February 15 is being predicted by mid continent oil men.

Much of the buying of California oil stocks listed on the New York exchange is reported to be for California investors in anticipation of an advance in the price of oil on the coast.

HONOR BUSINESS MAN PASSES ON

Noted Coffee House Owner Trusted Everyone and Made Fortune

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—With the passing of H. H. Hjul, famous San Francisco restaurateur, who died at his home here recently from heart failure at the age of 74, this city by the Golden Gate lost one of its most picturesque and lovable characters.

Hjul was the owner of a coffee house—one of those truly delightful gathering places, gay with cosmopolitan life and teeming with color and amusement that are only to be found in New Orleans and San Francisco. And furthermore Hjul was a true patron of honesty, a firm believer in the policy that all the world is honest. Not only did Hjul believe in this policy of an honest mankind, but he practiced it, and practiced it with a devotion that is rare to find.

For thirty years anyone could go into H. H. Hjul's coffee house, count up what he owed, pay it and Hjul would take his word for it. No checks were ever given by the waiters in Hjul's restaurant.

Before the great earthquake and fire of 1906 Hjul's restaurant was located on Sacramento street between Kearney and Montgomery. After 1906 he moved to Montgomery street where his establishment came to be regarded as a landmark. Both places were in the heart of the financial district.

Hjul was the first man to open a coffee house in the financial district of San Francisco. It was a rendezvous of famous characters for over a quarter of a century. David Warfield, among others, was a familiar figure there whenever he came to town.

A man could eat a dollar dinner at Hjul's and pay a quarter for it, and the proprietor would ask no questions. Many a time a man would come in to pay for a meal a week after he had eaten it.

Apparently Hjul's idea that all men were honest was a paying proposition, for his business was always prosperous, according to his son, James H. Hjul.

Hjul came to the United States from Denmark, when he was a young man. He was born at Halk, in Schleswig Holstein, in 1850. He opened his first coffee house in San Francisco in 1876, six years after his arrival in this city.

Tailor Wed Sixty-one Years Is Still Happy

LEWISTOWN, Pa., Jan. 29.—Amos Bowen, ninety, celebrated his birthday in company with his wife after sixty-one years of happy married life. Mr. Bowen was born at Allen Bank, Bedford county, December 25, 1834, and worked on the farm as a boy. In 1856 he learned the tailoring trade and worked at it practically all of his life until he retired to live with the children eight years ago. He still wields a wicked needle.

Probation Officer to Speak to Lydia Class

Mrs. Kara Root, county probation officer, will be speaker at the 6:30 o'clock dinner tonight at the Glendale Presbyterian church. Members of the Lydia class will be hostesses. Music will be furnished by women of the College of Music, University of Southern California.

Local Adventists Busy Attending Conferences

Elder W. F. Martin, religious liberty secretary of the Pacific Union conference, Seventh-day Adventist denomination, stopped over in Sacramento yesterday en route to Pacific Union college at St. Helena, where he will spend a week in conferences. Professor W. W. Ruble, educational secretary, has returned from Lodi. Elder J. L. McElhany, president of the Pacific Union conference, has been removed to his home from the Glendale sanitarium, and is reported recuperating rapidly from his recent operation for appendicitis.

Three Millions In Confidence

DEPOSITS of the Glendale Branch of the Security Trust & Savings Bank at the close of business, December 31, 1924, totalled $3,521,261.68.

If the deposit of money in a bank is a sign of the depositors' confidence, then the people of Glendale have over three million dollars worth of confidence in the Security Bank.

We feel that our effort to serve Glendale is appreciated. We feel that our support of the community both financially and in cooperation is fully justified.

DOLAN IS READY TO ARGUE BRIBE

Former Giant Coach Appears In New York; Confers With Officials

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Albert "Cozy" Dolan, debarred coach of the New York Giants, suddenly appeared on the scene of the baseball scandal investigation today and went before Assistant District Attorney George Brothers for questioning. Dolan, with Jimmy O'Connell, New York Giant outfielder, was declared ineligible by Baseball Commissioner Landis, following the attempt of O'Connell to bribe Heine Sand of the Philadelphia club "not to bear down" in a game with the Giants last September.

Dolan's conviction followed when he gave expression to a series of "I don't remember" replies to Landis' questions. Dolan's appearance here without being granted immunity from prosecution was a distinct step toward the solving of the riddle, according to Brothers.

Before going into conference with Dolan, Brothers denied the claim of O'Connell's attorney that Jimmy had been refused immunity.

"I have not even answered the telegram of O'Connell's attorney asking that immunity be granted," Brothers said. "I will do so some time today after conferring with District-Attorney Banton."

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—There is every indication that the dicker between Columbia and Gil Dobie has fallen through. Dobie has a satisfactory position at Cornell and had rather have his children grow up in the salubrious atmosphere of Ithaca than amid the stone walls and jazz of the metropolis. Dr. Paul Withington will not return to Columbia as head coach; that is certain.

While no definite announcement has been made, it is known that Columbia representatives have been in Boston conferring with Charles Crowley, the former Notre Dame and Harvard star, who in the past two years was one of the late Percy Haughton's right hand men at Morningside. The writer has not the slightest doubt that Columbia's new head coach will be the aforesaid Charles Crowley. That is a prediction.

As for Harvard, it looks as though Major Charles A. Daly would have a successful year up there. Bob Fisher can come back if he wants the job of head coach on a nominal basis.

But the man at the helm will be Daly! How can he coach football and attend to his duties of Officers' Reserve instructor? How did Captain Fleet of Florida coach the 'gators and attend to his military duties? Just how, as a matter of fact, is not important; the main thing is that he did. So will Major Daly.

Speaking of coaches and the like it is reported that Major Griffith turned down an offer to go to the University of Wisconsin as athletic director. Had he gone the western conference would have sustained in the loss of its athletic commissioner a serious blow.

Whether Washington University of St. Louis has closed with a football coach has not been reported. The last the writer heard the institution was flirting with Pat Page of Butler, Frank Murray of Marquette, Bob Peck of Culver military academy.

A good part of the football season will pass by before West Point has a crack at an eastern eleven. Detroit opens the season on October 3, at the point; then come in succession Knox college from Galesburg, Illinois; then Notre Dame at the Yankee stadium; then St. Louis and finally the cadets will face an eastern team on October 31, Yale being the opponent.

FARMER WINS FIGHT

REDDING, Cal., Jan. 29.—After a long drawn out and bitterly contested legal fight here between Louis P. Joerger, a Hat Creek farmer, and the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., for $40,000 alleged damages to Joerger's land and crops by Hat Creek power plant No. 2 of the power company, a verdict in favor of Joerger was returned by a jury in the Redding superior court Wednesday.

NEW HEAD COACH

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Charles Crowley, an assistant coach under the Haughton regime, has been signed as head coach of football at Columbia university, according to reports circulated today. Crowley is said to have signed a three-year contract at a reported salary of $15,000.

These names stand out in gold letters in baseball's earliest pages.

Harry Wright.
John Ward.
Albert G. Spalding.
Nick Young.
James O'Rourke.

The records other men set, the fact that they played parts in the establishment and development of the games fifty years ago has caused the names of many others to be revered among baseball lovers. But the men above stand out because they contributed something more than individual effort or prowess to the game.

Wright's case is an example.

He is given credit for being the first man to take up baseball as a profession.

He managed the first professional team of importance, the famous Cincinnati Red Stockings.

It was he who led the famous Red Stockings of Cincinnati on a tour of the country—mostly as an education venture—and guided them to sixty-nine consecutive victories.

He showed his greatness as a manager by winning four consecutive pennants, the first man to do that.

Played For Sport

Wright became interested in baseball as a sport. He was wealthy and playing baseball as a hobby when backers of the Red Stockings invited him and his brother George to join the team. The salary offered him was $1,200 a season.

Spalding stands out first as one of the greatest pitchers in the game's history, second as one of the greatest organizers in the game and third because of his feat of introducing baseball in Europe.

Regardless of conditions Spalding's pitching feat of 1875 stands unequalled or unapproached. That year he pitched in sixty-three games and won sixty of them. And for three years after that he continued his iron-man efforts, this in spite of his added duties as executive and prime leader in the organization of the National league.

The National league was born in 1876. That year Spalding assumed the management of the Chicago club. He also became secretary of it. And while he also managed and captained his team he filled the role of pitcher on the club.

Became President

He continued in the game as pitcher, manager and then president of the White Stockings until 1891. An indication of the high esteem in which he was held throughout his state was his election as senator by his home state of California some years later.

Nick Young's part in the formation of the baseball foundation extended over a period of forty years.

As early as 1867 Young was interested in organizing baseball. He formed the old Olympic club in Washington that year. It was while managing the team in 1871 that he conceived the idea of calling a meeting of delegates from the professional clubs that had been formed and founding the Professional Association. Young was named secretary.

It was his success in promoting this association that caused his associates to name him first secretary of the National league when it was formed in 1876. For twenty-six years he retained the secretaryship.

John M. Ward stands out as one of the greatest all-around players the games has ever produced.

He won his early fame as a pitcher with the famous Providence Grays in 1879. Three years later he joined the New York Giants. His days as a pitcher ended by a sore arm, he became a shortstop—and one of the most brilliant in the annals of the sport. His ability to cover ground was astounding. His hitting was timely and hard.

Ward was one of the leaders in the historic revolt of the players which resulted in the formation of the Brotherhood league. Ward helped instigate the revolt when the magnates decided that $2000 should be the highest salary paid any player, no matter how great.

It was the one just revolt in the history of the game. The Brotherhood league failed but not until the magnates had recognized its claims and arranged to open the fold to its members. Ward joined Brooklyn as manager and shortstop. Two years later, however, he rejoined the Giants and as player and pilot made history.

O'Rourke helped carve baseball history in those early days with his bat. As a member of the old Providence Grays he helped that famous team win the pennant in 1879 with his hitting. Two years later he joined the Buffalo club of the National league. And in the nineteen years that he played in the National league he compiled a .300 average twelve different years.

When the Giants bought O'Rourke in 1885 they offered him a salary of $6200 a year—the highest amount ever paid a player in those days up to that time. The critics bemoaned the move.

Incidentally the game owes O'Rourke a debt of gratitude for bringing Dan Brothers—thundering, ball-murdering Dan—to the game when that slugger had decided that he was not cut out for a player. He had quit the Troy team and gone back to day-labor jobs.

Other men there are who played their parts well in those early days. But the five men mentioned above were the "Big five."

BOWLING SCORES

The Gateways dropped the first game to the Tile & Mantel team last night in a Foothill league match at Recreation alleys, but took the second and third games and match. The tilers had a margin of 129 pins for the first game, the Gateways led by 37 pins in the second game, and the third and deciding game went to the Gateways by three pins. Cloyd of the losers was high score man, getting 253 in the third game. The scores:

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Both of Chicago's major league clubs will practically eliminate exhibition tours during the coming training season and on their way home from the training camps, the idea being to concentrate more upon the business of preparing for the regular playing schedule.

The Cubs went into the exhibition business on a moderate scale in 1924, but Commanders Veeck of the business department and Killifer, the playing boss, agree that it is not the thing to do this year. There is too much upset to it to offset the financial return.

Killifer is so intent upon discovering whether he has solved the needs that have beset the Cubs for the last three years that he is unwilling to take the slightest chance of jeopardizing the playing strength of his team until he gets it on the field in Chicago's North Side.

The Sox are through with the spread eagle days if Eddie Collins gets his way. He has a firm conviction that it is up to him to win for the South Side this year, and that one of the first steps toward that end is elimination of the jaunts that the Sox have taken every season through minor league land with the Giants. Comparison with the Giants never has tended especially to back the Sox up.

It must also be taken into consideration that Collins is making the plunge in to the managerial pool which he has longed for, and if he fails to make anything out of the Sox this season there will be several clubowners—potential employers—congratulating themselves that they did not experiment with him.

Two clubs in the American league have sought Collins and there have been three in the National who would have been glad to have him. Collins is ambitious to come to New York. He was born in New York state and would like to show his home state folks that he knows how to run a team in the big town.

The chance given to Collins this year is only second to one in New York. He has been in Chicago so long as a player that everyone knows him on the south side and in that part of the United States they think him the best second baseman in the game, despite his years. With Collins playing second for one time and Maranville holding that bag down for the other, Chicago fans think they are on the way to see the greatest season of second basing the country has ever had.

The Cubs will steam straight to Kansas City on their way home from California, without a playing stop. Then they will go direct home. The Sox are to play week-end exhibitions, but only a few. They will go down to New Orleans from Shreveport and may go over to Dallas.

Meanwhile, if the fewness of exhibition games scheduled should happen to get both of the Chicago teams into condition to make a showing in the pennant race, other clubs may begin to cut down on the barnstorming and stick to their training camps which seems better policy.

DYNAMITERS AND MONROVIA MEET

Contest Here Tomorrow to Have Strong Bearing On League Race

Whether or not the Glendale High casaba quintet remains in the running for the Central league banner will be decided tomorrow when the locals meet the Monrovia heavies in a battle which will probably determine second place in the loop standing. So far the Dynamiters have broken even, having won and lost one. Although the Alhambra Moors lead the league with two wins there is still hope for their being overtaken.

Last week the Moors beat Monrovia in a close game, while the Dynamiters went down in defeat in the first game of the season before the Alhambra sharks, 29-10. The Dynamiters will lineup for tomorrow's fracas as follows: Francis Hardy as left forward, either Reed Stearman, Bud Elliott or Bill Bradbury as right forward, either "Huli" Jensen or Raber Beaman as center, and Cecil Zaun and Carl Denney as guards.

Citrus Contender

Coach "Apollo" Pierce is handling the Red and Black outfit and has had his men working hard this week on signals. The Dynamiters are just rounding into their best form now and should give the Wildcats a good battle if they don't beat them.

Coach Schott, who is mentoring the Citrus Union High this year, is rapidly proving his ability. Schott took an entirely green bunch of material at the beginning of the basketball season and has whipped it into one of the title-contending teams of the central loop.

So far Citrus has won two league games and dropped none. Tomorrow they will buck the South Pasadena five and, if they can overcome them, they will be in a fair way for the league championship.

BASKETBALL RESULTS

The Huli Trucks smothered the Christian church team in a City league match last night at the Harvard High school gym, 56 to 9. The churchmen were outclassed at every point. Jensen, center for the truckmen, rolled up twenty-seven points, while Fanset, right forward, accounted for twenty-one points. Bowers, left forward for the churchmen, was high point man for the losers, getting two baskets. The churchmen opened the scoring, getting two baskets in quick succession. They got one basket and a free throw in the third quarter, and another in the final quarter. The lineup:

Huli Truck (56),		Christ'n Ch. (9)
Fanset (21)	R.F.	Dennis (2)
Doll (8)	L.F.	Bowers (4)
Jensen (27)	C.	Stone (3)
Wilde	R.G.	Heacock
Wilson	L.G.	Logsden

Score by quarters:

Huli Trucks	11	9	21	15	56
Christ'n Ch.	4	0	3	2	9

Another snappy and fast game, along the line of the one played Tuesday night when the Radios beat the Calla Lily team, 29 to 27, is expected for tonight when the Legion team makes it's debut in the City league. The Methodist Episcopal churchmen will be opponents of the former service men. The churchmen provided the upset of the week by trimming the Standard Oil squad, 25 to 15, after the Calla Lily crew beat the churchmen 44 to 17 Thursday night.

The Legion's team will be selected from the following players: Glenn Mapes, chairman of the post's committee of athletics; Walker Schmidt, Bunker, McKay, Buck, Waechter and Powell.

The Faculty Five made an appearance on the court last night. The players are Coaches Hayhurst, Wolfe, Butterfield, Hicks and Pierce, all from the athletic department of the Glendale Union High school. The coaches trimmed the Standard Oils and then turned around and beat the Legion men in a couple of practice games. The Faculty Five will not compete in the City league, but was organized for the purpose of giving City league teams a chance to practice.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

From Mack Sennett Bathing Girl in a one-piecer to Marchioness de la Flaise. Shades of Horatio Algers and Peggy Hopkins Joyce! Glorious. Gloria makes 'em both look like Bryan for president when it comes to writing romantic history with her winning ways. That's one advantage of life in the movies, if there be no other. Gloria Swanson "flitted over to Paris," as our esteemed contemporary, Florence Lawrence would say, to "do a picture." Gloria liked Paris. Paris, from all accounts, liked Gloria. Gloria, in the up-to-date language of the street, "knew her onions." She was there to make something besides one picture.

Joseph L. Kelley

She did. She "made" Marquis Henri de la Flaise. So now she's a marchioness. What a great opening for Famous Players-Lasky's to-be-pitied publicity hounds! How they will play up that marchioness stuff on the 24-sheets shrieking Glorious Gloria's latest releases to the "dear public!"

What editorial "meat" for the Corona pushers searching their fagged out brains for new superlatives and descriptives for Glorious Gloria's attractions as a motion picture star! Think of it, ye "fillum" fans—Marchioness de la Swanson Flaise in "The Wages of Being Virtuous."

Peggy Hopkins Joyce in the palmiest days of her international romances figures as a piker compared to what Corono pushers will make of Glorious Gloria and her newly acquired title. The late Anna Held's famous milk baths afforded mediocre copy compared to Gloria's acquiring a marquis.

The finest bit of editorial morsel contained within or without Gloria's romance was furnished Corona pushers at Famous Players-Lasky's studios in Hollywood and Long Island, N. Y. in the cabled statement that Gloria didn't intend to desert the fillums.

Think of the millions of sighs of relief heaved over Uncle Sam's domains when that cable was loosed over the press wires and onto the front pages of American dailies. Gloria will remain in fillums. That's assured—marquis or no marquis. The "dear public" can wait breathless for Marchioness de la Swanson Flaise to flit over the gold fibre in "Mme. Sans Gene," screen version of the French play Gloria now is "shooting" in Paris.

And when that's finished Marchioness de la Flaise is coming back to America, with or without her marquis, the cable didn't presume to hint. But the marchioness is due. Why not? What would be the good of having a marquis for a husband if the movie star couldn't parade him or his name up New York's Fifth avenue or Hollywood's namesake boulevard!

What would be the good of a marchioness or a duchess or any other noble handle if one couldn't be seen in Cocoanut Grove drinking Orange Pekoe tea with Stella the Star Gazer? What would Stella do if she couldn't give first-hand chatter on how much better Gloria looked wearing the marchioness handle.

Stella would simply collapse—that's all there is to it. She just couldn't brace herself to taste her Russian caviar without exchanging tee-hees and "how stunning you look" with the marchioness. Her Orange Pekoe would take on all the frigidity of a Newfoundland iceberg, waiting for consumption.

What a kick the flapper will get jack-knifed over the tea-table with her sleek-haired sheik trying to keep "his girlish figure" despite the protuberance over the hip of a silver flask. "Aint she just grand" will be murdered when Marchioness de la Swanson Flaise appears in public.

Susie McTish will stand just about as much chance of getting a mention from Stella the Star Gazer at Cocoanut Grove as the bus boy who takes away Stella's untasted Russian caviar.

Pity the poor plain American movie star when Glorious Gloria steps into a public assemblage. They won't get any more notice than Alaska's delegate to Washington.

As was remarked above, "Gloria knows her onions."

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Just what is going to happen to all the champs and near champs who are migrating or are about to migrate to the west coast in search of lucre?

It appears that the politician promoters have already begun to take wallops at the new boxing law. They threw Chuck Roach, a local four round fighter of no great reputation, into the ring against Bermondsey Billy Wells.

Wells, who was a square shooter, refused to fight under wraps and while Roach landed only twice in the eight rounds, the English fighter so punished the coast boy as to place him under the care of a physician. From the time the match was made the fight had a bad look and now the fans are disgusted.

There is a feeling on the coast that the boxing authorities are not going to look upon Mickey Walker's visit with too great favor. It can definitely be stated that Jack Delaney, the "bubble explorer," is under the sole and exclusive management of Pete Reilly. To the knowing ones this bit of information is valuable in that it carries a sense of security as to Delaney's efforts in action; he will check the carelessness which has made of Delaney a sort of in-and-outer.

Delaney is booked to a return bout with Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo and loyal Buffalonians are hereby warned not to dig too deep in betting on their boy.

Tendler of Philadelphia is probably through. So be it. He leaves a worthy record for lightweights to shoot at even though he was guilty of several faulty exhibitions in the course of his career.

Southpaws and awkwardness are synonymous according to general belief. Tendler was an exception to this rule. He combined grace and a sharp-shooting right hand with his unorthodox stance.

Riverside to Welcome Tourists With Orange

Riverside will truly place a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow for California tourists this winter. When the Los Angeles Limited, crack Union Pacific train, pulls into the Riverside station in the future, each passenger, tired and more or less weary after the long trip from the east, will be greeted by a Riverside maid, attired in Spanish costume and bearing a large basket of golden Southern California oranges. Each tourist will be given an orange. The innovation is sponsored by the Riverside Chamber of Commerce.

Union Pacific Booklet Publicizes California

A portion of the million-dollar publicity fund, recently appropriated by the Union Pacific railroad to advertise Southern California will be spent on a new California booklet, illustrated and telling of the all-year-'round features of the Golden State. Two hundred thousand of these booklets will be distributed throughout the east and middle west, according to word received from T. B. Peck, general agent, by C. A. Redmond, Union Pacific representative in Glendale.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Jan. 29.—Fred W. Axe, superintendent of the Tujunga schools, has been elected president of the Men's Brotherhood of the Tujunga Community Methodist church, succeeding W. D. Wright, who served in that capacity last year. Other new officers for the coming year are: W. D. Wright, Judd Jenkins and I. Jay, vice-presidents; E. C. Strube, secretary; A. Adams, treasurer. The Brotherhood plans to extend their activities and co-operate with other organizations in all plans for community betterment and law enforcement and function as an active social service organization.

Steve Dunbar, who drove the prize winning Tujunga float in the floral parade New Year's Day at Pasadena, has taken the management of the Blue Diamond garage at Sunland.

The Royal Neighbors of America lodge plan a dance for the night of February 4, with Kimpel's orchestra furnishing the music.

Charles Lang, son of Leo L. Lang, Tujunga fire warden, who formerly lived in Tujunga and now resides in Eagle Rock, has been having great success with a radio set he constructed at his home. Several messages have been exchanged with amateur operators in Australia and New Zealand as well as distant eastern points and Mexico amateurs.

Promotions marking the second half of the school term were made the first of this week in the Tujunga schools.

Richard Fraser Williams, 4½ year old son of Mrs. Florence Williams of North Wilson avenue was designated as an honor baby in a baby contest recently conducted by a Los Angeles newspaper.

A handkerchief shower was given Mrs. James McMann last week by friends who gathered at her home to celebrate her birthday anniversary. Games were played and a prize of salt and pepper shakers was won by Mrs. Clarence Byrer of Hillhaven. Among the guests were: Mesdames Fred Good, Bobo, Coke, Wright, Wakefield, J. W. Clark, J. M. Goode, Wood, George Aiken, Goldsborough, Eakin, Byrer, Morgan, Miss Maud McConnell, Georgiana Bobo, Lewis Clark and baby daughter of Mrs. Fred Good.

According to an announcement just made, F. A. Camp of Alhambra will on the first of February assume the management of the Independent Lumber company of Tujunga. Mr. Camp has been connected with the Independent at Alhambra for over a year and previously held a position in the Glendale office of the same company. He succeeds M. F. Gilmer, Boy Scout executive of the Tujunga-Sunland district.

Branson DeCou exhibited his "Dream Pictures Around the World" last night at the Garden of the Moon pavilion. A musical program featured the entertainment which was arranged under the auspices of the Woman's club.

At last the phone company has given me a permanent number—jot it down— Glen. 3727, and remember the new address— 211-A W. Broadway.

That's a queer number for a down stairs or first floor number—but that's it. Find a lot of folk thought I had just "launched" out for myself—NO! fifteen months ago took out brokerage license—but only had desk room with several "brother brokers" in the same office.

Don't forget—give me a ring or drop in, when interested in buying or selling ground or homes or "sich." Write Fire Insurance, too no better company. Lowest rates.

Drive Launched to Rid Pullmans of Swindlers

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Pullman officials have launched a campaign against the nation-wide ring of railroad swindlers and "gentlemen" crooks who prey upon well-to-do travelers. Railroad police estimate more than a hundred "mobs" of them infest the main lines of travel east of Chicago. They are the modern type of the old-fashioned card sharp.

Trainmen have instructions to interfere when they see a man being duped by professional gamblers. On the best trains detectives are posted to "get" this species of highwaymen. Women train gamblers are negligible.

RESISTANT ALLOY

George Postal Measure Amendment Defeated

defeat the George amendment to the Moses bill. That amendment would restore the 1920 postal rates on newspapers and magazines, almost cutting in half the rates contained in the Moses bill.

Salary Increases

The cost of salary raises is estimated at approximately $68,000,000. In the rate bill it sent to the Senate, the postoffice department estimated additional receipts would total $66,000,000.

That bill was revised by the postal committee, under the direction of Senator Moses, Republican of New Hampshire. The committee declared the Moses bill would raise about $25,000,000.

There has been no official estimate of the revenue under the George amendment, although its sponsor, Senator George, Democrat of Georgia, said receipts would be greater than under the Moses bill.

Wages of nearly all workers in Budapest, Hungary, are only one-half of those of pre-war times.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Oil stocks held the attention of the stock market until well after the noon hour, after which interest shifted to the motor and specialties and further demonstrations of their strength were given.

Not since the early part of 1924 has the demand for oil stocks in all markets been so aggressive as it was today.

Large increases in the value of stored oil was a factor in the buying of stocks of these companies today. Standard Oil of New Jersey recently reported inventories at $245,909,000; Standard Oil of California, $78,969,000; Prairie Oil and Gas, $54,711,000; Pan-American, $17,382,000, and Shell Union, $16,000,000. Sinclair Crude Purchasing Co., owned jointly by Sinclair Consolidated and Standard Oil of Indiana, and other large purchasers of crude oil, in the low priced period of 1924 also stand to benefit materially by the higher prices schedule of crude and refined petroleum now in effect.

With Mack Trucks advancing steadily to a new high at 132, up 10½ points for the day, the motor stocks made a strong bid for leadership in the fourth hour. White Motors was up 2½ at 75½; Maxwell and Willys-Overland preferred stocks gained a point each. General Motors was inactive. Studebaker advanced in good form to 43 7-8 for a gain of two points. Bosch Magneto and other of the accessory stocks also made good response to the better buying demand.

Specialty stocks, including the stocks of mercantile companies, came in for favorable attention. S. S. Kresge jumped 50 points to 510 on a few sales in response to a declaration of a 50 per cent stock dividend, the new shares to carry a substantial cash dividend. Associated Dry Goods improved its position by 6½ points and sold at a new high of 155½; commercial solvents A at 190 showed an advance of 15 points for the day and a gain of about 80 points since the first of this month. American Can sold nearly three points higher.

Sales totalled 2,061,900 shares; bonds $13,899,000.

The activity of the market in the first three hours in which the total of transactions was 1,200,000 shares, made a fair comparison with that of the wild two million share days of December. After that period a number of the industrial stocks were sold on profit-taking and the market outside of the oils and specialties was irregular. Worthington Pump, Radio corporation and other of last month's leaders lost from 2 to 4 points, while the steel, equipment and other dividend shares showed fractional declines.

Profit-taking in wheat and corn accounted for losses in the maximum of 3 cents a bushel. Cotton markets were featureless, bonds active and fairly strong, particularly the convertible oils. Call money 3½ per cent.

Famous Derby Winners In Race With Death

Hot Springs up the Lower Tanana river.

Wireless messages sent along the route to Nome brought a generous response today from scores of drivers who wanted to enter the lists for the suffering men, women and children in Nome. They were eager to risk their lives and dogs in the ride over the snows.

Hundreds of Persons May Die In Epidemic, Is Fear

SEATTLE, Jan. 29—The diptheria epidemic which is sweeping Nome, Alaska, may claim hundreds, according to dispatches received here today by Dr. G. M. Magruder, in charge of the United States public health service in this district. Five dead already and hundreds are dying. There was no indication given in the dispatches as to just the number of persons suffering from the disease.

Dr. Magruder said a large percentage of the afflicted were Eskimos, who, he said, were particularly susceptible to diseases that have scouraged the white race.

Sending Anti-toxin

Arrangements were being completed today by Dr. Magruder to rush 1,000,000 anti-toxin units to Nome on the steamer Alameda which sails Saturday from Seattle to Seward, Alaska.

From Seward the units will have to be shipped overland and Dr. Magruder was trying today to arrange a system of packing to protect the shipment from freezing as it is carried on dog sleds.

Efforts to obtain an airplane in Alaska to carry the serum were unsuccessful and it seemed probable the only method of transportation left will be by dog teams.

Temperatures in the north were reported being 60 and 70 degrees below zero, according to Dr. Magruder, which will mean special packing to protect the anti-toxin. Elaborate arrangements were planned by the health service for this feature of the race against death.

Immune to Nurse

Included with the anti-toxin, which will weigh from 100 to 200 pounds, will be material for the Shick test, used to determine if persons are immune from diptheria. These persons will be used to nurse the sick and carry messages in the stricken northern town.

Dr. Curtis Welch, public health service surgeon, is the only doctor in Nome at present and his strength is being taxed to the utmost by the great demands made upon him.

According to word received by Dr. Magruder a special health board has been appointed in Nome by Mayor George S. Maynard to carry out the provisions of a strict quarantine. Every nurse in the town has been pressed into service and volunteer nurses are being asked.

They produced records to show that King had once been arrested in Glendale on these charges.

She is the sister of a famous Midland golf professional, and is said to be a very fine player. Miss Wingate hopes to obtain most of her clients from the ranks of women golfers, but says that she is not averse to teaching men.

Committee Appointed To Receive Governor

A reception committee to meet Governor Friend W. Richardson when he arrives in Glendale for the Fathers' and Sons' banquet on February 9, has been named, consisting of David P. Black, chairman; Mayor Spencer Robinson, Dean Robinson and the following officers of the Glendale Hi-Y club: Robert Hatch, Kenneth Lee, Richard Bickenbach and Lyle Wheeler. In order to attend the banquet which will be given under the auspices of the Hi-Y organization, Governor Richardson, who is to attend the meeting of the board of regents of the state university in Los Angeles on February 10, will come to Southern California a day ahead of schedule. An invitation has been extended by President Robert Hatch to the Governor's son to accompany his father.

Three reasons for staging a Fathers' and Sons' dinner were given today by Secretary Rex Kelley of the Y. M. C. A.: to create mutual interest between fathers and sons; to make both realize more the responsibilities each has towards the other; to provide entertainment for both in each other's company. Through co-operation with Glendale service clubs it is hoped to bring many fatherless boys and many men who have no sons together and have them present at the banquet also, Mr. Kelley said.

Is Militant Politician

MISS JULIA ALEXANDER, who was elected to the House of Representatives in North Carolina, promises to wake up the coming session and make her presence in the legislative halls one that will be long remembered.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan 20.—Staid North Carolina solons, unaccustomed to the ways of women legislators, are due for an awakening when the legislature convenes at Raleigh early in January, as Miss Julia M. Alexander of Charlotte, prominent lawyer and militant political leader, takes her seat in the House of Representatives as the first woman ever elected to the legislature in North Carolina.

Miss Alexander announces that she will seek the chairmanship of the committee on appropriations, one of the most powerful committees in the House, and a place on the committee on agriculture.

Miss Alexander, who ran second on the Democratic ticket in the Democratic county of Mecklenburg, was the first woman ever licensed to practice law in North Carolina. She is a vice-president of the North Carolina Bar association, and is a daughter of Capt. S. B. Alexander, for many years a member of Congress. She is a direct descendant of signers of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, said to have been the first move on the part of the colonists to throw off the British yoke.

SEA WASHING FORTUNE IN LAND AWAY

Constant Action of Waves Cost Millions Yearly to Property Owners

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Slowly, but with relentless force, the ocean is eating into the coast lines of the United States, sweeping away land and man-made improvements valued at millions of dollars. In spite of the great seawalls and the other bulwarks against the raging waters, there is a ceaseless changing of that battleground where land and water meet, with inevitable victory for the rolling, crashing waves.

Elaborate studies of coast erosion and protection are highly essential, according to the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, which points out the necessity of frequent surveys of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts to determine changing conditions over a long period of years.

"From observations of this character, combined with data regarding weather, currents, shore forms and materials, a detailed study of fluctuations can be made and the laws governing shoreline changes deduced," E. Lester Jones, director of the Geodetic Survey, declared.

Comprehensive Study

"With these laws definitely established, the engineer would be in a position to apply them to the particular project of coast protection under consideration. For this purpose a comprehensive study should be made of the entire erodable shore along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts from existing surveys, supplemented by additional surveys from time to time, where changes are frequent, as in the various inlets that connect the successive bays and sounds with the ocean.

"There are at present but few places along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts where periodic surveys have been made. In many instances but one survey exists; and in other places two surveys comprise the entire number made in the last one hundred years, a condition wholly inadequate for satisfactory study."

Jones said the problem of the protection of the coast of the United States from the "unrelenting attacks of the waves and currents is one that is rapidly increasing in importance to the states and municipalities that border on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts."

Forces Are Great

Pioneering in the field of coast surveys is justified by the great number of requests that have been received by the Geodetic Bureau for comprehensive mapping, according to Jones.

"To the lay observer the meeting place of land and sea is but a fascinating playground whose elements are unchanging in their relation to each other," Jones said. "Little does he know of the pent-up forces that every incoming wave carries with it, to be released on its relentless work of destruction."

The geodetic expert pointed out that not only has the natural formation of the coastline of the United States been encroached upon, but that costly protective structures, monuments to engineering skill, have been swept away by the fury of the unchecked sea.

The development of better transportation facilities, both on land and sea, has converted comparatively unimportant beaches into pleasure resorts, while other coastal centers have vastly increased in commercial value.

Vexing Problem

"Sooner or later these communities will find themselves confronted with the vexing problem of preserving their waterfronts," Jones said.

"Their first step in the direction of checking the destructive work of the sea will be to appeal to the Geodetic Survey for information regarding the successive changes that their particular portion of the coast has undergone. We can be in a position to furnish such information only by anticipating this future development.

"The broad scope of the work, the need for a proper co-ordination of the many sources of information, the necessity of studying the effects of similar conditions on different localities—all make it imperative that the work be lodged in some central agency."

The geodetic survey was characterized as the logical governmental agency to take over this function.

Unique Water System Laid In Small Village

WHITEHALL, N. Y., Jan. 29.—To obtain a new water supply Whitehall, a village in the Adirondacks, completed a unique pipeline system in which water is passed under water. The pipe line is laid at the bottom of South bay, an arm of Lake Champlain, about a mile wide. The water is brought from Pine lake in the foothills 800 feet above the little village.

The project, for which Edward F. Roche, editor and publisher and mayor of Whitehall, led the movement, cost the village $300,000.

Panama Signs Treaty Ending Austrian War

PANAMA, Jan. 29.—Panama has just ended her participation in the World War by the ratification of the treaty of St. Germain, establishing peace with Austria.

As a signatory to the treaty, the government of Panama received in due course a bulky shipment of volumes, which, having a dry and legal appearance, were shoved to one side in the foreign office and forgotten. On a recent change of ministers, a house cleaning disclosed the presence of the treaty, and it was forthwith handed over to the national assembly for ratification. This accomplished, the war was over.

'Meanest' Crooks Work Unique Syracuse Game

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Police have been asked by City Clerk Thomas E. Kennedy to search for the meanest gang of thieves in the world. The gang, according to Kennedy, has been stealing license tags of dog collars in every section of the city.

Kennedy referred the matter to the police officials, following a series of complaints from persons who were forced to return to the city hall for new license tags as a result of the gang's depredations. It is believed that the tags are being sold at a cut rate.

Retired Farmer, 88, Is Biggest Kid on Ice

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—You are never too old to be young! So said William Whigham, 88, retired farmer, living at Libertyville, Ill., near here.

For several days "Bill" Whigham had watched the school boys go by with their skates dangling over their shoulders. He could not resist temptation. So he waited the chance to see the youths go roaming by, away he went right after them to the old skating pond. He quickly donned his skates and in a short time was cutting fancy figures on the ice. Wingham is the biggest "kid" on the ice.
